MISSILES WRAPPED IN DEATH THREATS

The home of Hector M. Frazer at No. 27 Dudley street, North Cambridge, was bombarded today with bricks.

The bricks were wrapped in papers on which were written threats of death if Frazer ever attended another meeting of the Ku Klux Klan.

Frazer reported to Patrolman Fred Tansey that the bricks were hurled, one after another, through three lower front windows of his house at 1:30 in the morning.

ALL WHITE BRICKS.

The bricks were of the white variety, like a brand made, the police say, in a Winchester brickyard.

Each brick was wrapped in paper tied on to make sure that Frazer received the threatening message.

The first brick had th s message:

"You her-headed ——! If you attend another meeting we will kill you."

The second brick held a message reading, so far as could be made out:

"This is for you, you——K. K. K. A good Cath."

The third message identified the brick-throers more specifically. It read:

"We are the opposition to the K. K. K. We are going to kill you."

Recently a meeting of Ku Klux Klansmen as held in Odd Fellwos Hall at Massachusetts avenue and Walden street, North Cambridge, opposite the police station of that district.

Whether Frazer attended that meeting the police were unable to say. But the enemies wh ohurled the bricks and who now threaten Frazer with death think that he did, judging by their first note.

Falls From 13 on Friday the 13th to His Death

New York, Oct. 13.—Friday, the thirteenth, proved a fatal "hoodoo" for Clifford Lennon, a member of Hook and Ladder Company No. 12 of Brooklyn. Lennon was thrown from an automobile, alighting upon his head, and sustained injuries from which he died in the hospital. The accident took place at thirteen minutes after midnight.

INTERCITY CALLED FRAUD

The State Department of Public Utilities revoked today the broker's license of Harry A. Asner.

He was doing business as the Inter City Sales Co., which was selling stock of the Inter City Trust Co. of No. 831 Boylston street, Back Bay.

The latter is the concern against which complaints have been made by shareholders alleging fraud to the extent of thousands of dollars.

The department also revoked the licenses of four stock salesmen against whom complaints had been made.

They were salesmen of the Inter City Sales Co., and were selling stock of the Inter City Trust Co.

ALL FROM NEW YORK.

The salesmen all have New York addresses and lose their licenses to sell stock in Massachusetts. They are:

Harry Mazur, New York city; Isadore Wolff, Hotel Claridge, New York city; Berthold Block, Hudson, N. Y., James E. Johnson, Riverside Drive, New York city.

The department says they are the

ENGLAND NEAR REVOLT, SAYS CHAMBERLAIN

Birmingham, Eng., Oct. 13 (By the International News Service).—Austen Chamberlain today declared "Revolution has been close to England's doors." He sa'd: "Peace policy towards the Turks has been difficult because of the promise by former President Woodrow Wilson to participate in the Near East settlement, a promise that did not materialize."

Birmingham, England, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the House of Commons, in a sensational speech to the Midland Conservative Club here today, declared the Coalition government must be continued.

His statement includes the line upon which Prime Minister Lloyd George will make his fight for political life in the next general election and removing doubts as to whether Mr. Chamberlain as Unionist party leader would support his chief.

Special significance attached to the speech inasmuch as the Prime Minister himself was said to be awaiting the pronouncement to learn what support he had before writing the speech he is to deliver at Manchester tomorrow.

DANGER OF REVOLUTION.

Mr. Chamberlain took his stand in favor of the coalition on the ground that the country faced a great national danger in the labor party.

If labor obtained a majority, he declared, direct action would triumph over the government, which would not be allowed to lead but would be forced to take instructions from the labor caucus.

The Unionist party leader asserted that the country must not hand over an experiment in national construction to the subversive, if not revolutionary, party. A levy on capital would mean the ruin of indus-

NURSE IS LOST ON WAY HERE

Behind the lines at Mons German bomb dropped on hospital and killed several of th patients and nurses, but pretty Maria de Conte, then only 1 and the youngest war nurse i Belgium, was unhurt.

All through the war she served unscathed, yet her father, Charles de Conte, believes she has met with danger and foul play upon her arrival in this country.

The little war nurse arrived at Ellis Island Tuesday, wired her father in Boston that she was leaving Tuesday night for this city—and has not been heard of since.

CAME FROM BELGIUM.

The father, engineer of the Young Women's Christian Association at No. 40 Berkeley street, decided to bring his daughter on from Sirouelt, Belgium, and sent her passage some four weeks ago. She booked on the steamer Finland which docked in New York Tuesday.

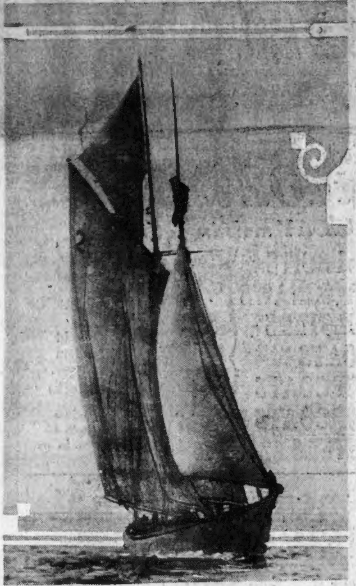
At Ellis Island she passed the necessary examination, and landed at Battery Park. She sent a telegram to her father that she was leaving for Boston that night. She was due to arrive yesterday morning, and go direct to the Y. W. C. A., where her father had arranged for quarters for her until such time as he could get an apartment for them.

NO SIGN OF MARIA.

The baggage of Maria duly arrived at the South station, but there was no sign of the girl.

Thinking that she might possibly have missed the train, the father planted himself at the Back Bay Station, and a representative of the Travelers' Aid Society at the South Station, and watched all incoming New York trains for the girl. Every train that has come in since then has been eagerly watched, but there has been no sign of the little war nurse.

The father is frantic. The girl is attractive and, although she speaks French and Flemish fluently, is unable to speak English. She is twenty-one years old, about 5 feet tall, weighs 140 pounds, has a dark complexion, blue eyes and is rather plump.



WENT ADRIFT AFTER TOW-LINE PARTED

Schooner Bluenose, winner last year of the International Fishermen's Race Cup was lost at sea when towline to the Canadian destroyer Patriot parted in a dense fog.

BLUENOSE PICKED UP AT SEA

Gloucester, Oct. 13.—The Lunenburg schooner Bluenose, which will defend her honors as champion of the Canadian and American fishing fleets, was believed today to be on her way to this port under her own sail.

Messages yesterday from the Canadian destroyer Patriot, which undertook to convoy the schooner to this port, said that the Bluenose had broken adrift in a fog off Cape Sable.

A radio message from the Patriot this morning, however, said that the schooner had been convoyed to the Cape "and should arrive the following day."

This was taken to mean that the destroyer had dropped the defender after taking her safely past the dangerous shoals about Cape Sable.

PATRIOT DUE TODAY.

The message said that the Patriot expected to arrive here at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

It was announced that the U. S. destroyer Talbot would escort the Bluenose into the harbor, if word of the defender's approach was received in time.

The Bluenose was separated from

WOUNDED, LEFT ON DOORSTEP AND DIES

Lowell, Oct. 13.—Martin J. Finn, who left his home at No. 5 Wiggin street last night to attend a boxing bout, was carried home just after midnight fatally wounded, and was abandoned on his own doorstep by two men who ran away.

Finn died five hours later. The police are investigating the case from a standpoint of possible foul play and are searching the city for the two men who carried him home.

Finn had a deep cut on his forehead and other wounds. He was unable to talk and lapsed into unconsciousness soon after his wife found him on the steps and carried him into the house.

He was forty-seven years old and a napper in one of the mills. He leaves a wife, seven sons and two daughters. He was a boxing fan. Last night he was one of the enthusiastic backers of Phinney Boyle, local favorite, to beat Johnny Downs of Boston.

BANDITS USE VICTIMS' AUTO TO ESCAPE

West Danville, Vt., Oct. 13.—Two young men, one of whom may be a resident of Worcester, Mass., held up a party of motorists from New Haven near here today, robbed them of $100 in cash and then appropriated their victims' automobile for their escape. A third man was captured after he attempted to swim a river. The motorists were Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Warner, Mrs. W. G. Bushnell and Mrs. C. D. Kooksy.

ITALIAN FASCISTI THREATEN AUSTRIA

BLAME LACK OF PLAY FOR BOY'S SUICIDE

Bridgeport, Ct., Oct. 13.—Lack of recreation, too little play, which deranged his mental faculties as his youthful mind attempted to grasp the complex theories and discussion of the philosophy of life, is blamed for the suicide of Raymond Bradley, 16-year-old high school student, who shot himself yesterday at his home. "Had he been an aggressive member of any of the school athletic teams he never would have me with such disaster," declared Captain Snyder today. "He forgot how to play."

the Patriot when the towline broke during a heavy fog. She was to have arrived in Gloucester at sun rise today.

Meanwhile the American schooner that will race Bluenose for the international cup cannot be selected before tomorrow.

THIRD RACE POSSIBLE.

Should the Henry Ford win tomorrow's race, the elimination contests will be over, and there will be nothing more to do but wait for the international race with the Bluenose. If one of the other entries wins, however, a third race will be held Monday.

The International Fisherman's cup was brought here today and placed on exhibition.

The skippers of the three boats that finished yesterday took advantage of the interlude today to overcome shortcomings that developed in the first test. Aboard the Henry Ford Captain Morrissey had his foretopsail taken down and recut and had new rigging rolled and blocks oiled to remedy troublesome spots. The Yankee and the L. A. Dunton, which had been hurried into the race without attention to numerous minor points of preparation, were given a further slicking up.

REPAIRING THE HOWARD.

On the Elizabeth Howard both topmasts were down and in blacksmith and carpenter shops. Work was being rushed on two sets of supports to carry the top sticks, one of which tumbled in yesterday's race. The trestle trees of both masts gave way entirely and on examination it was found that this was due to dry rot. These parts had been on the schooner for four years in all kinds of weather, during which the Elizabeth Howard made several trips to the Mediterranean in the business of freighting fish in which she had been engaged before she returned to the fishermen themselves this season.

America to Spend $300,000,000,000 on Electrification

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 13.—Within six years more than $300,000,000,000 will be spent in the additional electrification of America, said Frank E. Watts, editor of the Electric Record, before the annual convention of the National Association of Electrical Contractors and Dealers.

He predicted the harnessing of rivers and waterfalls, similar to the harnessing of Niagara Falls. He said that if a few tons of cement were dumped into the St. Lawrence River to make a dam, enough power could be created to solve the coal problem in New England.

FALLS 100 FEET, STEEPLEJACK IS KILLED

Jacob Johanson of No. 81 Hemlock street, Roslindale, a steeplejack, was instantly kiled at noon today, when he fell from the top of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Lynn, to the pavement below. Every bone in the man's body was broken in the 100-foot drop.

Scores of shoe workers, going to their lunch, saw the man fall from the roof. He was dead when passersby reached him.

Johanson was employed by John P. Olsen, No. 120 Appleton street, Boston. He was preparing to ascend from the roof of the church to the top of the tall steeple. While lashing two ladders together, the top ladder slipped. It crashed down, struck Johanson on the knees and threw both feet from the rungs of the lower ladder.

Without an opportunity to save himself, the doomed steeplejack crashed to the ground.

DOCTORS ISSUE PRESCRIPTIONS FOR COAL

Chicago, Oct. 13.—With hints of Winter weather before the coal shortage is relieved, Chicago physicians have found a new use for their prescription pens, according to Marshall Keig, a coal company official, who today exhibited a large batch of varicolored slips, all urging that certain consumers, because of illness or other emergencies, be preferred in coal distribution.

"This avalanche of doctors' prescriptions for fuel is a novelty and we do not know just how to regard it," said Mr. Keig.

try, he said. He defended the government's foreign policy which had been heavily attacked by the political opponents of the government. He declared that the government's policy had prevented the conflagration in Asia Minor from spreading to Europe.

"DIRECT ACTION" THREAT.

Mr. Chamberlain declared that within the last few weeks the threat of direct action had been raised again.

"I do not pretend to see in what circumstances and conditions the co-operation between ourselves and our present allies can best be obtained in a new parliament," he declared.

"I do say, with all earnestness of a great conviction," he added, "that union should be of first consideration—union in the face of the common foe.

"If the advice given on such subjects is not wholly and absolutely wrong—and for myself I am convinced that it is right—there will be no possibility in a new parliament of any government carrying on except by a coalition drawn from more than one party."

GLOUCESTER 5 START HOME AFTER WRECK

Gloucester, Oct. 13.—After forty hours in a wave-tossed dory on the high seas, the five missing fishermen from the sunken schooner, Marshal Foch, drifted ashore safe and sound at Larry's River, Nova Scotia.

The five men saved were: Patrick James, John O'Neal, Louis Moulansong, Frank Mahoney, Gilbert Bennick and Harry Veno.

The men are now on their way by automobile to Canso, according to information reaching here today by telephone. From Canso the men will start home.

66 KILLED BY AUTOS LAST MONTH

Sixty-six people were killed in September's wave of auto death accidents. Twenty-nine were children. This is the record of Massachusetts.

More auto licenses were suspended and revoked last month than in any similar period in the long history of the Highway Commission.

State Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin today announced that the licenses of 1,238 drivers were taken away.

Of that number 324 autoists were punished for driving while under the influence of liquor. That, too, is a high record. Another large batch of drivers lost their licenses for failing to have their cars equipped with proper headlamps.

LIST REDUCED TEN.

The death list of September last year was fifty, as compared with the sixty who lost their lives in the same month this year. The number of licenses then suspended was 629, as compared with the 1,228 this September. Drunken drivers' licenses revoked were 164, as against this September's record of 324.

"One drink is often sufficient to cause the revocation of the driver's license, even though the condition of the operator may not justify a court conviction," said Goodwin.

ASKS FOR HELP.

Goodwin today asked all the police chiefs of the State to send him the names of the drivers whose cars are not properly equipped with headlights. He will take away their licenses, he said, because faulty lighting is a serious menace in these months of short days and long nights.

Goodwin today revoked the truck registration of the Scully Company, First street, East Cambridge, as well as the license of Ernest Whitman, who drove the truck which killed eleven-year-old Alice Leonard on Windsor street, Cambridge, Monday.

Goodwin said the inspector who investigated the accident reported that both brakes of the truck were "absolutely useless" and the steering gear was in a condition that might cause the truck to overturn at any time.

only ones known to it as salesmen for the InterCity Sales Company, and that they are the ones against whom specific complaints have been received.

MAIL UNDELIVERED.

Inspector Silas F. Waite said that the Intercity Sales Company and the broker and four salesmen claimed to have local offices at No. 3A Park street, Boston. But Waite added that mail addressed to the company and salesmen at that address had been returned undelivered. He understands that the office has been given up.

As result of the finding by the Department of Public Utilities the Intercity Sales Company is forbidden to do business in Massachusetts. The department finds on Asner:

"Harry A. Asner (Intercity Sales Company) is conducting his business as broker in a fraudulent manner, or wilfully and purposely evading or seeking to nullify the Blue Sky law."

FAIL TO APPEAR.

Asner and the four salesmen had their chance to tell their side. They were summoned to a public hearing Tuesday but none appeared.

Complaint against officials of the Inter City Trust Co., whose stock Asner and the four salesmen barred today were selling, was made at a hearing earlier this week. Several shareholders, including some women, alleged that officials of the trust obtained several thousand dollars by means of false representations of the real estate activities of the trust. They asked that a fraud order, restraining the company from selling any more stock, be issued.

20 BANDITS GET $200,000 IN WHISKEY

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Twenty armed bandits raided the Grommes & Ulrich Warehouse today, bound and gagged three officials of the concern and the watchman and drove off with three truck loads of whiskey valued at $200,000.

Death Penalty for Those Carrying Arms in Erin

Dublin, Oct. 13.—That the Free State government plans to deal drastically with all found in possession of arms after October 15, when the offer of amnesty to the Irregulars expires, was made plain today.

Dublin is now placarded with great posters reminding the populace of the closing date of the amnesty offer.

The people and the army are dissatisfied with the leniency hitherto shown the Irregulars who were caught ambushing. Hereafter the death penalty will be enforced in such cases.

BOSTON MAN, 73 IN SECRET WEDDING

Friends of Miss Sadie F. De Neef of Dedham learned today, when they found that she had left on a honeymoon, that she was a bride.

She was married Wednesday, they found, to George W. States of Boston, at St. Mary's Church, Dedham, by the Rev. John H. Fleming. Mr. States, who recently retired from business, had an embroidery shop on Boylston street, Boston, and for thirty-five years Miss De Neef was employed by him. She is 54 and he 73. It is his second marriage.

TROLLEY LEAPS TRACKS IN REVERE

A one-man trolley jumped the tracks at the corner of Shirley avenue and Beach street, Revere, today, and crashed into a board fence.

There was only one passenger in the car at the time. He escaped injury.

Champion Queen Bee
Dropping 180 Feet
Fable of the Fagots
'The Tenderest Sentiment'

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1922, by Star Company

J. M. Cutter & Son of Montgomery, Alabama, pay $150 for one-half interest in Achievement Girl.

That lady is a queen bee raised at Amenia, North Dakota, and her children have beaten all records for honey production. The queen will be sent by mail, registered and insured, to Montgomery to spend the Winter producing young bees—then return to Amenia to continue her work on a fifty-fifty basis for the double ownership.

The record price for a queen bee is more interesting than any race horse price, and the bee is a more extraordinary animal than any horse. The worker bees can take the young of that queen and make of any one a fertile queen, spending her life in motherhood or a sterile worker, to gather honey.

Bees know things that humans don't know, and in some ways they are wiser. They sting to death all the worthless drones as soon as the queen has made her choice among them for a husband. We feed our drones indefinitely.

Be careful not to hit anything when going sixty miles an hour. Barney Oldfield's racing car going at that speed hit a tree early yesterday morning, and you should have seen that car afterward, as this narrator saw it. The heavy chassis was crumpled up like an accordeon, everything smashed. The marvel is that one man, the driver, came out alive.

Mr. Park, engineer for the Pullman Company, says that when building cars, knowing that collisions occasionally are inevitable, they calculate exactly the strain undergone.

A collision at sixty miles an hour is the same as though the railroad train—or automobile—had been dropped from a height of 180 feet. Drive carefully—as you would on the edge of a 180-foot drop.

A news jotting says: "Railroad owners are pleased to learn that conductors and trainmen have separated from other railroad unions." The owners may well rejoice, remembering the fable of the dying father who showed his sons how easy it is to break sticks ONE at a time.

The unions are separating and disagreeing, each going its own way. The railroads and other corporations are more and more closely united. It needs no seventh son of a seventh son, nor any ghost come from the grave, to predict the results of that.

Greeting the American Child Hygiene Association, President Harding praises love of children as "the tenderest sentiment of civilization." It is also the tenderest sentiment of barbarism, and all the way down through animal life to the lowest of the mammal—and even below. For the scorpion mother walks around in the sunlight carrying her young ones that cling to her body, gradually devouring it, until

WIDOW OF SLAIN PASTOR IN COLLAPSE

OVERCOME AS POLICE PLAN NEW GRILLING

Mrs. Hall Stricken With Grief, Says Attorney; Hayes Is Welcomed Home

By International News Service.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 13.—Suffering from nervous strain, Mrs. Frances Hall, widow of the murdered Protestant Episcopal clergyman, Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, collapsed in her home today. She is under the care of a physician.

Her counsel said she had been grieving deeply ever since the bodies of her husband and the choir leader of the Church of St. John the Evangelist had been found lying side by side on the Phillips Farm, two miles from this city, on September 16. Friends of the family said that Mrs. Hall had suffered a complete nervous breakdown. Her doctor will not allow her to see anyone except immediate members of the family.

"The notoriety brought to the family by the murder of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills had much to do with Mrs. Hall's breakdown," said her counsel. "She has been heartbroken over the loss of her husband and she worried over the inconvenience and worry caused by examination of members of her family."

PLAN TO QUIZ WIDOW.

Just before news got out that Mrs. Hall had broken down the State authorities said they had planned to interrogate her again this afternoon. County detectives had gone to Mrs. Hall's home and taken possession of the coat and scarf which she sent to Philadelphia to be dyed just after the bodies were found.

Several members of the choir of the Church of St. John the Evangelist were expected to be questioned today, including Ralph M. Gorsline, a member of the vestry, who was reported to have been in an automobile near the Phillips Farm on the night of the double murder.

Prosecutor Beekman denied that private detectives would be called into the case.

WELCOME FOR HAYES.

Schneider was expected to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Sutphin in Somerville later in the day. It was regarded as possible that the county authorities might make a charge of perjury against him.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 13.—Demobilized from the navy after the armistice, young Clifford Hayes found no hero-worshipping crowd awaiting him. They didn't even know he was back from the war.

Released as a suspect in the double murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and his pretty choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, he returned home today to find himself the town hero.

There was a large crowd in front of the Hayes home when Cliff, accompanied by his attorney, returned from the Somerset County jail, where Raymond Schneider, in a dramatic hearing, admitted he had lied when he accused Hayes of the double murder. The crowd accorded the youngster the sort of a reception that usually comes only to prize-fighters, ball-players or movie stars.

Twenty thousand tags, with "Hayes Justice Fund" printed on them, which were intended to be used to raise a fund to defend Clifford, are to be used anyway. The people of New Brunswick feel that the community owes the lad a debt, and a big one.

A mass meeting has been arranged for tomorrow night, at which time Hayes is scheduled to appear and tell all he can of the attempt to convict him of two murders, while the real murderer is secure because of what the townspeople say is the bungling of officials, whose clumsiness obscured the evidence which might have led them to a solution of the mystery.

An hour before, weeping, Schneider repudiated the statement he signed Monday after an all-night grilling by the authorities, saying:

"I lied. I don't know why I did it. I'm sorry, Cliff. I hope you're not mad with me."

Raymond Schneider's father was among the first to congratulate Cliff. Grabbing him by the hand, he said:

"Cliff, I'm glad, I'm glad. Every minute I've prayed to God to give strength to Ray to tell the truth. They forced him to tell that lie, Cliff."

FORCED TO TELL STORY.

It is now known that Schneider lied about Hayes after the men interrogating him last Sunday had assured him that Hayes had told what Schneider regarded as a lie about him. They told him Hayes had said that Schneider had been on the Phillips farm about the hour the murders were committed. Hayes had said no such a thing.

That was a part of the third degree undergone by both youths, and Schneider's lie was the direct cause of it. The interrogators went from one to the other of the lads, implying that admissions were made, expecting that one or the other would break down and tell everything when promised immunity for turning State's evidence. The scheme worked too well with Schneider.

NAB HUB MAN IN CHASE AS RUM-RUNNER

Biddeford, Me., Oct. 13.—At the conclusion of a three-mile race between a touring car carrying deputy sheriffs and a truck loaded with furniture, officers captured 150 gallons of grain alcohol.

The start was made from Kennebunk over the Roosevelt highway when Deputy Sheriffs Jones and Berubee learned that a furniture loaded truck was on its way to Maine from Boston.

After a three-mile chase, the truck driver, who gave his name as A. Spelberg, Boston, was forced to reduce his speed of forty miles an hour because of a dangerous turn in the roadway.

The officers closed in and covered the truck driver with revolvers. Under the furniture they found the alcohol. Spelberg said he was bound for Augusta, and that this was his third trip with like cargoes, the officers state.

MOTHER IN COURT FOR BEATING DAUGHTER

Haverhill, Oct. 13.—Mrs. Elizabeth McFadden was arraigned before Judge Winn in district court today, charged with assault and battery on her nine-year-old daughter, Lillian. Officer William J. Murphy testified that, summoned to Mrs. McFadden's home at No. 1 Bragg court by a neighbor, he found the woman unmercifully beating her child with a strap. The child's body was covered with welts from the punishment. In court today Mrs. McFadden explained that Lillian had been stealing coins from her purse and that she was endeavoring to impress upon her the heinousness of her crime. The case was placed on file and the child went home with her mother.

SIFT R. I. GRAFT CHARGE

Six Subpoenas Issued for Inquiry as Contractors Tell of Woonsocket Plot

Woonsocket, R. I., Oct. 13.—Charges of graft against a member of the City Council, which have been whispered around the city for the past two weeks, came into the open today.

President Ralp L. Daignault of the council has called a special meeting for this evening for investigation and has issued subpoenas for witnesses.

The charge, as made by four building contractors, is that a member of the city council committee on fire department demanded $5,000 as price to be paid him by the successful bidder for the proposed new structure to house the city's fire alarm system.

Subpoenas, issued by President Daignault, were given to City Sergeant Ovila Dulude to be served on the following witnesses:

David R. Howard, manager Eastern Construction Company.

Wilfred Aubin, contractor.

Albert Briem of Bouvier & Briem, contractors.

City Auditor Valmore Normandin.

City Architect Walter F. Fontaine.

Chairman Joseph Jannell and Councilmen Raoul Renaud and Adelard E. Peloquin. The upper branch member is Alderman James F. Carroll.

The first plan of President Daignault of the council was to have the charges investigated by the alderman and council in open session. But the aldermen, it is said, thought it better to have the inquiry made at a closed committee hearing. President Daignault's answer to this was an issue of subpoenas and a call for the inquiry meeting of the council tonight.

The council advertised a month ago for bids for the new house for the fire alarm system. The bids were to be opened by the fire committee Monday, October 3. No bids were received.

The next day one of the contractors conferred with President Daignault, City Auditor Normandin and other officials. According to President Daignault today this contractor declared he and three other contractors had voted not to submit bids.

The reason he gave was that a member of the City Council Fire Committee had called on the contractors secretly and individually and had instructed them to add $5,000 to their estimates.

The lowest bidder was to get the contract, but the night the contract was awarded this bidder was to make out a $5,000 note, payable in six weeks to this fire committee member.

FINES TWO $25 FOR OPIUM POSSESSION

Unk Way and Lee Tom of Harrison avenue were in court today charged with having opium in their possession. Several small cans were shown which contained enough of the drug to make nine pills. The containers are called "hoptoys." Judge Murray fined the Chinamen each $25, saying: "You fellows will have your toys." The defendants spoke Chinese vigorously, but Judge Murray shook his head and found them guilty.

AUTO KILLS ROXBURY WOMAN

Driver Booked by Police on Technical Charge of Manslaughter

Elizabeth Mayer, sixty-five years old, of No. 22 Vine street, Roxbury, a widow, was hit and fatally injured by an automobile at Dudley and Vine streets, Roxbury, today.

She was rushed to City Hospital in a fire department auto, but died before arrival there.

The driver of the car, Arthur P. Montgomery, of No. 102 Winthrop street, Roxbury, was booked at Dudley Street Police Station on a technical charge of manslaughter. The police arranged to present the case in Roxbury Court, to see whether a former complaint on that charge would be issued.

Montgomery was arraigned before Judge Hayden charged with manslaughter. The case went over to October 20 and he was released in $1,000 bail.

LIBELS LUCKENBACH IN HARBOR COLLISION

San Francisco, Oct. 13.—A libel for $1,125,000 has been filed in the Federal Court here by the Union Oil Company against the steamer Walter A. Luckenbach, which collided with the oil tanker Lyman Stewart in the strait here last Saturday night. The Lyman Stewart drifted on the rocks and efforts to dislodge her have been unsuccessful. The complaint avers the Walter A. Luckenbach was being operated at an immoderate rate of speed and that it was not on the proper side of the mid-channel.

SAID IT WITH ASHES; WARRANT FOR GIRL

Following a quarrel, Laura Crumbull, of No. 135 Dartmouth street, it is alleged, coaxed her sweetheart, Jesse Suggs, to mount the stairs two flights to her apartment and when he neared the top threw a pot of ashes at him. He fell down the stairs and was severely injured. He was taken to the City Hospital and his name is on the danger list. Today a warrant was granted for her arrest, charging assault with intent to maim.

HELD, CHARGED WITH RESTAURANT BREAK

Patrick Doherty, No. 47 Chestnut street, Charlestown, was arraigned in Charlestown court today, charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny. He was caught robbing the restaurant of Michael J. Driscoll at No. 125A Chelsea street, Charlestown, it is charged. Doherty was held in $500 for the grand jury.

13TH COURT TRIP ON FRIDAY, THE 13TH

Hyman Miller was arraigned in court for the thirteenth time today. He was charged with trying to bribe a policeman and with several violations of the liquor law. He was fined $150 and sentenced to nine months. Miller conducts a soft drink establishment on Troy street. When the police caught him selling hard drinks he offered them $75 if they wouldn't push the complaint, they charge.

'Spook' Girl Insane

MARY ELLEN McDONALD

MARY ELLEN OF ANTIGONISH IN ASYLUM

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 13.—Mary Ellen McDonald, alleged originator of the famous Ghost of Antigonish, has been placed in the Nova Scotia Hospital for the Insane. Mary Ellen burst into the news some months ago when her stories of the ghost or phantom spirit were spread throughout the country. As a result a systematic search was conducted by Dr. Walter Prince, director of the American Institute for Scientific Research. After a fruitless investigation, the doctor declared Mary Ellen was the ghost.

Mary Ellen is declared insane this fact of her commitment to the hospital discloses, for it is the provincial insane asylum of Nova Scotia.

"Yes, we have Mary Ellen here," Dr. Lawlor, superintendent of the hospital, admitted. The people she was living with down in Antigonish County found they could not keep her any longer. Mary Ellen was smashing up things at their house, and they were evidently afraid she might do some real harm. They reported the case to the doctors, and two medical men of that district examined her recently and pronounced her insane.

"The girl, who seems to have a great many ideas about ghosts, is truly feeble-minded. I do not believe that she is much different now from what she has always been."

Mary Ellen's case had its origin in a number of minor fires in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McDonald, a middle-aged couple living in the small farming district of Caledonia Mills, Antigonish County.

These fires consisted of incipient blazes in the window curtains and on the walls. Cows were mysteriously set loose in the barn. No great damage was done, but the MacDonalds did not like the mystery surrounding them and finally with their adopted daughter, Mary Ellen, aged 16, moved to another house nearby.

Their neighbors heard of it, the story spread and the Halifax Herald took it up with great seriousness. One Peter Owen (Peachie) Carroll, a retired Nova Scotia detective, was assigned to go with a reporter to the place and solve the mystery. They tried to spend a night in the "house of mystery," but were driven out by ghostly experiences. The detective reported that unknown sounds were heard and the reporter vowed that he had been slapped by an unseen hand.

Find $60 in Vase at Lawson Sale

HIS RIDING CROP SOLD FOR $13

Crowd Bids Briskly at Auction of Many Dreamwold Treasures

Thomas W. Lawson made secret entrance into his Dreamwold estate in Scituate today while the auction sale which marks the ebb in his fortunes was in progress.

He took refuge, according to all indications, in the "Love Nest," the cottage filled with the tenderest memories, in which he and the late Mrs. Lawson often found quiet retreat from the activities of the main house."

Discovery of two $20 gold pieces and a $20 bill hidden in an old vase, merry bidding for eleven glass champagne stoppers—reminiscent of pre-prohibition days—and sale of Lawson's favorite riding crop for the unlucky figure of $13 were features of the opening hours of the second day auction sale today at Thomas W. Lawson's "Dreamwold" estate in Scituate.

The little hidden store of treasure in the old vase was interesting to all. Bidding for vases following seemed more brisk.

The treasure vase was brought to the auction platform by an attendant, who turned the container upside down to shake dust out.

Two yellow coins flashed down, followed by a fluttering piece of paper money. When these were found to represent $60 of good money there was lively comment.

"CARELESS WITH CASH."

"Rather careless with the cash at Dreamwold," observed one spectator.

The vase was auctioned quickly but the sale did not include the $60. That was added, presumably, to the proceeds of the sale held by two trustees to liquidate Lawson debts.

Successive vases were examined with scrupulous care, but no more "Lawson gold" was thus revealed.

There were three bidders for the Lawson riding crop. Although this equestrian equipment seemed nothing out of the usual—apparently a $3 value or so—it was run up to $13.

$10.50 FOR WINE STOPPERS.

When a collection of eleven glass stoppers for champagne bottles was put up by Auctioneer William K. Mackay the 300 bidders and spectators present indulged in cheerful grins.

The stoppers, moulded glass, were topped with grotesque faces, some the faces of cherubs. The lot went for $10.50 to a man of prosperous mein.

To several jocose inquiries of "What are you going to do with them?" the successful bidder answered only with a smile.

Lawson literature went at reduced rates. Seven volumes of his "High Cost of Living," Roycroft-bound in leather, were put up. The auctioneer announced that they cost $30 apiece to publish. He would sell only one to a person. But they brought only $10 apiece.

On the other hand, several articles and lots brought good prices. Some bidders were obviously dealers, others souvenir purchasers.

LAMP SELLS FOR $245.

A blue porcelain lamp brought $245. Two porcelain lamps went for $20 and $23. Copper and brass candlesticks were sold from $3 to $18.

SCREEN CENSOR SEEN AS FIRST STEP IN SUPPRESSION OF PRESS

HUNDREDS OF LETTERS DENOUNCE ATTEMPT TO RESTRICT FILMS

Censorship of motion pictures is but a forerunner of suppression of newspapers. Both are closely allied as educators and entertainers. What hits one will eventually hit the other and the "freedom of press and speech" embodied in the Constitution of the United States will no longer prevail.

These are only a few of the sentiments expressed in the hundreds of letters that are pouring in to the Movie Censorship Editor, from all parts of the New England States. Interest in the contest is by no means confined to residents of Massachusetts, letters being received from as far away as Pennsylvania.

Fight this bill that is a direct blow at the family theatre. Smite it hard and show that the people of Massachusetts are still liberty loving. Send in your letter today. Get in line for a prize. First prize, $250; second, $100 and third, $50. An additional award of $2 is given for every letter printed.

Here are some letters:

HITS AT CENSORS.

Editor Boston American:

Moving pictures should not be censored because nothing but the truth is ever censored. No one ever censored or wanted to censor a lie. The truth is always hated and dreaded. People love to be humbugged. They like falsehoods and lies, but the truth—Heaven forbid.

Must every good thing in the world be controlled, censored and spoiled by entrenched ignorance, haughtiness and conceit? Are we forever to be guided by morbid-minded, fretful people? Shall folly, caprice and eccentricity lurk in the highways and byways of all life or shall the motion picture sweep them away, that the place that now knows them may know them no more?

No fad in dress or breach in decorum, however indecent, can justify censoring of the moving pictures. Beter unchart the rocks, the reefs and breakers along the coast. If we follow the censors' theory to its logical conclusion it would be hypothetically wise to poke our eyes out and live in eternal darkness, lest, perchance, we meet some person in the buff.

Our prisons are overflowing and our asylums choked already with the victims of false modesty, pride and prudery. The baited lures, pitfalls and snares of life are concealed by the fog of ignorance. Must we also blind and hobble the guide? Ignorance of our enemies' methods will not help us to repel him.

Who are the censors? The pure in heart seldom seek to censor.

JOSIAH J. JOHNSON.

'Nations Censoring Public Have Bitter History'

"The gist of all proper censorship should lie with the public; the people. The lessons learned from the history of nations, which have attempted to run their people and regulate their morals by censorship have been sufficiently bitter to be a serious warning. The 'healthy' effects of our own present prohibition laws are enlightening. Censorship of any medium of public utterance is always the beginning of the end.

"If legislators believe that people are incapable of healthy, intelligent decision, they should take steps by fostering religion, education and every sort of healthy, wholesome and uplifting recreation or diversion to build up the fiber of their men, women and youth. They must, in the last analysis, be the safeguard of morals. The State IS the people and her officers should be merely her servants.

"Will you, therefore, have your servants regulate you? Where there is real democracy nothing will dare to continue, very long, in opposition to a strong, healthy, intelligent public opinion. To squelch that public opinion is to weaken the State."—Statement of John A. O'Shea, Director of Music in the Boston Public Schools.

URGES WHITE FEATHER FOR VOTE SLACKERS

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—"The man or woman who fails to vote this Autumn ought to have a white feather pinned on him or her," wrote Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president of the National League of Women Voters, to the Ohio League.

CLERKS POINT OUT DANGER IN CENSOR

Boston clerks are opposed to censorship of the movies. In no uncertain terms they denounce this latest attempt to curb individual liberties. They typify censorship as savoring of kings—of monarchies in which the rights of the public are controlled by a chosen few.

Elinor Martine

Miss Elinor Martine, No. 25 Romsey street, Dorchester, said: "It is bad enough to have Sunday shows censored so much that they are hardly worth seeing, without having to look at censored pictures during the week. If the censorship bill is passed, we will see typical Sunday shows all the time. There are enough laws now to take care of improper pictures without the addition of a censor. I certainly am opposed to censorship of the movies."

Dorothy Wheaton.

Miss Dorothy Wheaton, No. 1407 Commonwealth avenue, Allston, says: "Show me the perfect man who is capable of being a censor. Show me the man who could conscientiously censor pictures or anything else, without allowing his own personal likes and dislikes interfere with his work. I don't believe there is such a man. The law is perfectly clear in the matter of improper moving pictures and if it is enforced in the right way, it can take care of producers or managers who might try to slip undesirable pictures before the public."

E. L. Condon

Edward L. Condon, Fifth street, South Boston, says: "It is about time the reformers put an end to their 'Don't do it' propaganda. To the evil everything is evil. That is why they can always find something wrong with everything. If they would try to boost instead of destroy, they would have many more supporters. Censorship is all right in a kindergarten, but it has no place in a civilized nation where people are sufficiently intelligent to think for themselves."

EPWORTH LEAGUERS FOR STATE DRY ACT

Attleboro, Oct. 13.—At the convention of the Providence District Epworth League, attended by 700 delegates, in the Methodist church, a resolution was adopted endorsing the State Volstead act referendum and condemning State officials for laxity in enforcing the liquor laws. Rev. Ira W. LeBaron of Providence, district superintendent, was toastmaster.

PRAYING THIEF BEATS EVERETT SEXTON

A young "praying thief" was surprised while robbing poor boxes in the Church of Our Lady of Grace in Everett, but escaped with his loot after beating and kicking Leonard Evans, the church sexton, into insensibility.

Evans is in the Whidden Hospital with a broken rib, a black eye and severe cuts and bruises all over his body.

The sexton was in the basement of the church, which is on Nichols street, when he heard a noise upstairs. Going up, he saw the young man kneeling at the altar rail, apparently engaged in prayer.

He was about to return to the basement when he noticed that the young man's arms were moving in a manner somewhat unusual for a worshipper. Going closer, the sexton saw that one of the poor boxes had already been emptied, and that the youth was even then scooping out the contents of another.

Evans ran forward with a shout. The youth sprang to his feet and ran for the door. Evans seized him by the arm. The youth hit him on the jaw with his fist, knocking him to the floor.

Then the thief kicked the prostrate sexton repeatedly and, kneeling, beat him into unconsciousness with his fists.

Running down the front steps of the church, the thief slipped and rolled down a low embankment to the sidewalk. Several people were walking by at the time. He rose to his feet hurriedly and fled down the street, attempting to brush himself off as he ran.

A few minutes later Evans crawled to the door and summoned aid.

Lauder Squelches Heckler Who Asks About Mines

When Sir Harry Lauder, in his turn at the Boston Opera House, was speaking on the friendships of the two English-speaking races, a brother Scot, who evidently had been indulging a little too freely of the liquor made famous by his forbears, interrupted the performance.

"How would you like to be back in the mines again?" he shouted to the former coal miner, who has risen to be a knight.

"I would be," Sir Harry replied, "if I hadn't any more intelligence than you have." And the audience broke into applause.

CHINESE TELLS MOTHER LOST GIRL IS DEAD

Pittsburgh, Oct. 13.—Police have searched for a week for Clara Marko, a waitress, also known as "Betty Meyers." No trace of her could be found.

Her mother answered a rap at the door of their humble Carson street home and there stood a Chinaman. He carefully inquired if that was the home of "Betty." The eager mother asured him it was, and he whispered:

"Your daughter dead."

He dashed from the steps and before the startled mother could make an outcry he had disappeared.

Today police were searching Chinatown. They were also hunting for a North Side youth with whom the girl was friendly. He is missing from his usual haunts, police say.

PRISONER DYING IN LEAP OFF TRAIN

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 13. — In a desperate dash for liberty a New York city prisoner of Detective Charles Essie of Chicago, leaped from a window of a coach on a train going 60 miles an hour near Derby, N. Y., and was fatally injured. The dynig man was found by trackwalkers. He refused to give his name.

"Mother Why Not Try The Newer Form Of Iron
Called Nuxated Iron

And Be Strong and Well and Have Nice Rosy Cheeks Instead of Being Nervous and Irritable All the Time and Looking So Haggard and Old?"

"The doctor gave some to Susie Smith's mother and she was worse off than you are and now she looks just fine."

There can be no healthy, beautiful rosy-cheeked women without iron. Good physicians have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more of the newer form of iron—Nuxated Iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard-looking patients. When the iron goes from the blood of women the roses go from their cheeks and strength and vitality from their bodies. This newer form of iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in certain green vegetables is highly recommended to thousands who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance. It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat your food merely passes through you without doing you the proper amount of good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale, and sickly-looking, just like a plant trying to grow in soil deficient in iron. You can tell the women with plenty of iron in their blood—beautiful, healthy, rosy-cheeked women, full of life, vim and vitality. You can get Nuxated Iron from Houghton & Dutton, Epstein Drug Co., O. F. Frye, S. S. Pierce and Armstrong Co., or any druggist under an absolute guarantee that it will do the same for you or your money back.

TURKS ATTACK GREEKS IN THRACE

London, Oct. 13 (By International News Service).—Bands of Turkish irregulars are attacking Greek outposts in eastern Thrace near the Bulgarian frontier, according to advices from Athens today.

Greeks in Thrace are becoming panic stricken as a result of increasing activity on the part of Turkish guerrillas and are fleeing to Constantinople.

The Turkish incursions into the neutral zone on the Turkish straits are regarded as serious by the Foreign Office. It is hoped, however, that the allied high commissioners will be able to straighten out matters.

U. S. to Send Red Cross Mission to Greece

Athens, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—The United States government, through its charge d'affaires here, Jefferson Caffery, has taken steps for the dispatch to Greece of an American Red Cross mission to handle the refugee situation here. News of this action, coupled with the announcement that the Red Cross has donated an additional $100,000 for relief work, has immensely cheered the Greek people.

The tragedy of the refugees problem lies in the fact that virtually all able-bodied Greeks and Armenians in Asia Minor were deported into the interior as prisoners of the Turks, and that Greece today must succor several hundred thousand women and children who will henceforth have no husbands and fathers to provide for their wants.

A. K. Jennings, a Y. M. C. A. worker from Syracuse, N. Y., arriving here from Mitylene, has been informed by wireless that 25,000 more refugees, without food or clothing, are awaiting rescue on the shores of Asia Minor near Adalia and Makri. Steps are being taken to save them.

Turks Retire From Vicinity of Chanak

Chanak, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—A general retirement of the Turkish troops from the immediate vicinity of Chanak is in progress.

A Chanak dispatch Thursday announced an advance of the Turkish forces towards the British line, against which the British command protested, as a violation of the armistice agreement. The Turkish commander, replying, declared he had not yet received notification of the armistice, but would give orders for retirement as soon as such notice came.

Greek Patriarch May Move to "Holy Mountain"

Constantinople, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—The Greek patriarchate will be moved from Constantinople to Mount Athos unless effective guarantees for the safety of the Christian population are given by the forthcoming Near East peace conference. This announcement is contained in telegrams sent by a mixed council of the Greek hierarchy to the foreign ministers of the allied governments, demanding protection.

Meanwhile the authorities are proceeding with provisional plans to establish the seat of the spiritual head of the church on the slopes of the "Holy Mountain," which is situated on the Chalcedon Peninsula, about eighty miles southeast of Saloniki.

Turks to Make Trade Pact With Russia

Angora, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—Soviet Russia will be given most favored nation treatment in eastern Anatolia under a commercial treaty soon to be concluded between the Turkish Nationalists and the Moscow government, it is officially announced.

SERBIAN MINISTER PRESENTS PAPERS

Washington, Oct. 13.—Dr. Ante Tersich Pavichich, new minister to the United States, representing the Serbians, Croats and Slovenes, arrived at the White House to present his papers to President Harding. A number of prominent men from all sections of the country visited the national capital to pay their compliments to the new minister.

BOSTON MEN NEAR DEATH IN AUTO

Four Boston men, speeding westward through New York State in a limousine, narrowly escaped death when their car skidded across an open grade crossing near Buffalo and was struck by an Erie passenger train.

All of the men are in a hospital at Leroy, N. Y. Their names are given in Buffalo dispatches as:

Michael Rudnick and his twin brother John, thirty years old, both of No. 116 Homestead street; Carl Rudnick, twenty-eight years old, of No. 25 Columbia street, and Morris Rudnick, forty-six years old, of No. 74 Babcock street, Brookline. The last named two are cousins of the twins.

HAD BEEN SPEEDING.

Just one hour prior to the accident, the driver, Michael Rudnick, was arrested in the city of Batavia for speeding. After a fine of $25 had been imposed he was released, and the party resumed its trip.

According to witnesses, the machine was proceeding along the road at a high rate of speed. The grade crossing, half way between the towns of Leroy and Caledonia, is in level country and a clear view is available for half a mile on either side. The driver apparently failed to see the approaching train, however, until the car had almost reached the tracks.

When Michael Rudnick, at the wheel, finally did see the train, he jammed on the brakes hurriedly. So effectively did the brakes work that the car skidded and spun around sideways, losing its momentum rapidly. Rudnick was unable to bring it entirely to a stop, however, and the rear end whirled across the tracks just as the train came along.

Two Children in Toll of Lynn Auto Mishaps

Five persons, including two children, were hurt in rush hour automobile accidents in Lynn.

Americo Abruzze, eighteen months old, of No. 16 Edwards court, toddled out into Western avenue in the path of an automobile driven by Cornelius J. Shea of No. 44 Nelson street. He was taken to the Lynn Hospital with cuts about the head and face.

Vincenzo De Cesare, five years old, of No. 9 Chadwell street, was struck by the auto of John A. Cook of Waban, on Summer street, and was treated for cuts on the head at his home.

A "road-hog" caused Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O. Mosey of No. 49 Windsor avenue to come to grief. They were the street car tracks, where their cycle overturned.

Mosey received a broken left leg, riding on a motorcycle on Western avenue when a motorist in a big touring car crowded them over into Mrs. Mosey was injured about both legs. Both are in the Lynn Hospital.

James O. Caswekl, sixty-four years old, known as Lynn's oldest newsboy, who has been selling the Boston American ever since it was founded, stepped in front of a machine driven by Patrolman James J. Shanahan of the Lynn police. He was taken to the Lynn Hospital with a badly cut head.

MME. ASPASIA MANOS

She was married to the late King Alexander of Greece before he was in direct line to the throne. He died in 1920, but not until now has the marriage been officially recognized.

165 AIRMEN DEFY 13TH HOODOO

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Oct. 13.—The second day of the national air races at Selfridge Field gave spectators their first opportunity to witness the flight of the new speed creations of the army and navy, eleven of which were entered in the Liberty Engine Builders' Trophy race. Two light navy machines were pitted against nine heavier planes carrying the honor of the army.

"Friday, the thirteenth," the bane of the superstitious, apparently had no terrors for the 165 pilots here. Dread of that date has passed for the service men, according to Major Carl Spatz, commanding officer at Selfridge Field, who recalled instances at air stations in France during the war and then pointed to the feverish bustle about the hangars where pilots and mechanics were preparing machines for their daring rushes through the air.

ROYAL DECREE RECOGNIZES MME. MANOS

Athens, Oct. 13.—A royal decree published in the Official Gazette recognizes as valid the marriage of the late King Alexander and Mme. Aspasia Manos.

By virtue of the decree King Alexander's child, Alexandra Sophie, has no rights to the throne, but becomes the legal heir of the deceased king, and is entitled to an allowance for maintenance out of the public revenues.

Mme. Manos is the daughter of a former aide de campe of King Constantine. The marriage between her and Alexander is reported to have taken place before he was in direct line to the throne and while his chances for succeeding his father, Constantine, appeared very remote.

In October, 1920, when Alexander was dying from the effects of the bite of a monkey, Mme. Manos was continuously at the bedside of her husband. When he died she accompanied his body from Tatoi to Athens.

Alexander died in October, 1920. In March, 1921, Mme. Manos gave birth to her daughter.

CAR SHORTAGE HITS FLOUR DEALERS

A shortage of freight cars is now interfering seriously with the business of New England flour and grain traders, according to an announcement made today by Warren G. Torrey, chairman of the Grain Board of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The shortage, Mr. Torrey said, is causing serious trouble and inconvenience to the receivers of flour and grain products in New England. Many flour mills are able to operate on part time only and some are able to operate at only half capacity because of the lack of trains.

The Grain Board has learned from the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce that the Buffalo port is jammed and the grain elevators filled to capacity. Many vessels are waiting there to unload and in order that coal may be moved it has been necessary to relieve the elevators and vessels by diverting freight cars to Buffalo for flour and grain shipments.

The matter is now under consideration of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

ACCUSED OF MURDER, EDITS PAPER IN CELL

New York, Oct. 13.—Harry Suthpin, Editon of a newspaper at Jamaica, has arranged to edit his newspaper from his cell in the Queens County Jail, where he is held for shooting William Biermann. The case will be presented to the Grand Jury Tuesday of next weew. Suthpin says he shot Biermann in self-defence.

SAYS 'ADS' SOLD SURPLUS WAR STOCKS

New York, Oct. 13.—Advertising sold almost all of the $2,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 stock of surplus war materials for the government, Major J. L. Frink, head of the Sales Promotion Division of the War Department, told the annual convention of the Associated Business Papers, in progress today. Only about $250,000,000 worth of goods now remains unsold. Newspaper and trade paper advertising was used in what the major called "the greatest sales campaign the world has ever seen.'

RUNAWAY BOYS HAD CASH AND GUN

Worcester, Oct. 13.—Two Holyoke boys, sons of prominent residents of that city, were picked up here by the police just as they were getting well on their way to "see the world." The boys are Jack Metcalf, son of Captain Frank Metcalf of the Holyoke police, and Paul Hurley, son of Dr. P. E. Hurley. Worcester police say the boys were well supplied with money and one had a revolver.

CANADIAN PASTORS MUST QUIT TOBACCO

Toronto, Oct. 13.—Tobacco will no longer find a place in the habits of the future ministers of the Methodist Church in Canada. It was banished as an undesirable by the delegates attending the quadrennial conference of the church and in the future it will be incumbent upon all entering the ministry to make an affirmative answer to the question "And will you continue to abstain from the use of tobacco."

SOVIET OFFICIALS DIE IN TRAIN WRECK

London, Oct. 13 (By International News Service).—A Russian passenger train bearing Soviet officials who were investigating charges of railroad graft was wrecked with the loss of several lives, said a Central News dispatch from Riga today.

CLEMENCEAU MAKES READY FOR HIS TRIP

Paris, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—Former Premier Georges Clemenceau returned from the country today looking nearly as fresh and rosy as when, more than fifty years ago, he started on his first voyage to the United States. He at once went about the final preparations for his resecond American trip with enthusiasm. He will sail on November 1 and deliver his first lecture at New York on November 23, after which he will talk in Boston, Chicago, Kansas City, New Orleans, Washington and possibly Philadelphia.

CONGRESS WILL MEET AGAIN NOV. 20

Washington, Oct. 13.—A tentative agreement has been reached between President Harding and legislative leaders to summon Congress back to Washington in extra session on November 20, thirteen days after the country decided on the political complexion of the new Congress at the polls, it was learned today.

MISSING GIRL FO_ND, FLEES ONCE MORE

Springfield, Oct. 13.—Marian G. Race, seventeen years old, of No. 129 West Pine street, missing for two weeks, was found in New York, put on a Springfield train and started home. Somewhere along the way she fled the train. The search for her was then renewed. It is believed she joined a theatrical troupe.

Kellogg's Bran Heads Off Dangers of Diabetes and Bright's Disease!

And, constipation is responsible for most cases of rheumatism, hardening of the arteries, brain fag, sluggishness, headaches and many other organic disturbances! Constipation hastens old age; in fact, authorities tell you THAT 90% OF ALL HUMAN ILLNESS IS DIRECTLY TRACEABLE TO CONSTIPATION!

With knowledge like that can you stand by and see yourself slipping physicially; see your loved ones fall, as the prey of a preventable condition? Do not minimize the dangers of constipation because you are only "slightly" troubled.

Inactivity of the eliminative passage creates toxic conditions which penetrate the intestinal walls, poisoning the blood and affecting the organs.

BRAN—Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled—is nature's own positive and permanent relief from constipation. It is the most wonderful corrective food known. Bran is not a "remedy," but a "roughage" that through its mineral salts and ability to absorb water—giving bulk and moisture—assists in perfect elimination. We guarantee that if Kellogg's Bran is eaten regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases with every meal—that the sufferer will be relieved permanently! Bran is wonderful for children, for the aged, for every one!

Kellogg's Bran is delicious, its nut-like flavor greatly adding to the enjoyment of eating cereals over which it has been sprinkled. Kellogg's Bran makes the tastiest of bakery batches, such as gems, raisin bread, muffins, macaroons, etc. All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran.

LLOYD GEORGE CALLS ON KING; MAY RESIGN

London, Oct. 13 (By International News Service).—Premier David Lloyd George, who has held the tiller of the British ship of state for virtually six years, today conferred with King George.

Belief is growing the Premier soon will tender his resignation to the King and that announcement of a general election before the end of this year will follow.

Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer and head of the British Debt Funding Mission to the United States, conferred with King George last night, leading to a report that he may be the next Premier.

It is known Mr. Lloyd George wishes to retire from public life for a time at least. His health has suffered from the tremendous strain he has been under and he wishes to take a year or more to rest up.

During his vacation he probably will visit the United States.

The Premier will hold a number of political conferences tomorrow, and also make a political speech at Manchester.

TO FORCE NAMES OF TRADUCERS FROM CANDLER

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 13.—"I am leaving Atlanta for the time being, but my fight for vindication will continue," declared Mrs. Onezima de Bouchell, beautiful society woman of New Orleans, jilted by Asa G. Candler, the Coca Cola magnate, just before she boarded a train for her home. She was accompanied by her attorney, Harry Gamble, who stated both he and his fair client will return to Atlanta in about ten days.

"I am not going away in the face of any fire from the opposition," said Mrs. De Bouchelle, "but I have accomplished everything I think possible for the present, and I must have rest. I came here to insist that Mr. Candler furnish me with the names of my traducers. This he has refused. But there are ways which will make him disclose the things I want to know. The means and methods will be left to my attorneys."

Attorney Gamble stated legal proceedings will be instituted when he returns here against Mr. Candler, charging defamation of character.

"Atlantans who have played leading parts in the negotiations between the Candler family and Mrs. De Bouchelle are going to be called upon to reveal the sources of their information leading to their conclusion that a marriage between Mr. Candler and my clients would not only be unfortunate but impossible!" said Mr. Gamble.

Mrs. De Bouchelle has stated she believes Mr. Candler took the action he did under great pressure and that had he consulted his own wishes he would not have broken the engagement.

Princes Sail for Europe to Spend Winter in Foreign Lands, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

WHEN I heard the other day that the Freddie H. Princes, Jr., had sailed for Europe to spend the Winter, I decided that it's a well-nigh impossible task to keep track of this prominent young couple. No sooner have you them carefully settled in one place than you hear they've gone to another.

Everyone, of course, knows Freddie Prince, Jr., as one of the crack players of the Myopia polo team. During the season, half the polo games of the North Shore take place at "Princemere," the Pride's Crossing estate of Mr. Prince, senior. This last Summer the Princes, Jr., had the Dexter cottage, one of those rambling places not at all pretentious looking, but commanding a gorgeous view of the ocean.

Mrs. Prince was formerly Miss Elizabeth Harding, daughter of William Harding of Washington. She is one of the most striking looking of the younger matrons along the North Shore, with her tall, slender figure and her lovely blonde coloring. She is quite a bit taller than her young sister, little Alice Harding, whose marriage to Robert Thompson Pell was solemnized last month at Beverly Farms, the wedding breakfast being given by the Freddie Princes, Jr., at the Dexter cottage. Which reminds me that this youthful bridal couple—they are both only twenty—sailed on their honeymoon abroad about a month ago.

MR. and Mrs. Samuel Eliot Guild of Beacon street have arrived at the Lenox Club in Lenox, where they plan to spend the remainder of the month.

I SUPPOSE a good many of Andrea Adie's friends wonder what she does with all the blue ribbons she wins in the show ring. Although I stayed for only the morning session of the Chestnut Hill horse show, held yesterday at the Liggett estate, this skillful equestrienne had already captured no less than three first prizes, one in the class for combination horses with Melody, a beautiful bay mare, another in the class for polo mounts with Sandy, a gray gelding, and the other she won again with Melody in the class for fine harness horses.

MRS. OSCAR IASIGI of Beacon street has as her guest at the Red Lion Inn in Stockbridge Miss Bessie Lyman, also of Boston.

MR. and Mrs. Francis R. Appleton have returned to their North Shore place at Ipswich, following a visit with the latter's father, Charles Lanier, at "Allen Winden," his Lenox estate.

IT is next Monday that the debbies of the season will all "rally round" for the opening of the Junior League rooms. Those in charge hope that members will use the rooms for luncheons and teas, and I understand that already a number of regular luncheons have been planned similar to those given last year, which proved such a success.

SPEAKING of the buds, Miss Elizabeth Thorndike who makes the all-important bow very shortly, seems to be having a wonderful time of it at Hot Springs, Va., where she plays golf or tennis, or rides along the trails for which that resort is so famous.

Miss Thorndike is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Thorndike of Commonwealth avenue, and her brother, young Thayer Thorndike. The family practically always spends a portion of the Autumn season at Hot Springs.

JUDGE ROBERT GRANT of Bay State road is receiving congratulations upon all sides upon his election as president of the Harvard Alumni Association.

"MOTHER" JONES, 92, REGAINING HEALTH

Washington, Oct. 13.—In spite of her ninety-two years and a critical illness of pneumonia, "Mother" Jones, probably the best known woman in the labor world, is looking forward to the day when she will resume her work.

"Mother" Jones is convalescing from a long illness. While improved, she has not yet regained her strength and is not permitted by physicians to do any work.

"When I am able to again resume my duties, however, it shall be done as heretofore without fear, favor or price," "Mother" Jones declared.

DEATH RECALLS 'VEILED BRIDE' CEREMONY

Baltimore, Oct. 13—Mrs. Marion Hartley-Hellyer, famous "veiled bride," who caused a sensation here in 1913 by her peculiar marriage, is dead.

When Dr. Hartley-Hellyer announced he was to marry Mrs. Marion C. Arnett of Philadelphia, he said she would wear a thick veil at the wedding and that he would not see the face of his bride until a week after the ceremony. He also announced he had been introduced to her over the telephone and had never seen her face.

Society gurgled over the unusual announcement.

On the evening of the ceremony, just as the doctor had proclaimed, Mrs. Arnett wore a black veil and held her head sideways, so that her husband could not see her face.

The story got around that Dr. Hartley-Hellyer had been in India several years before and was warned by a famous soothsayer that twenty-four hours after his second marriage a great calamity would befall him if he gazed upon the face of his wife. It is known that Mrs. Arnett consented to the strange veiled ceremony under protest, and that it nearly resulted in her breaking their engagement.

She was the daughter of Admiral Jean Clark of the United States Navy and widow of Frederick Arnett, a Boston banker. She was a graduate of Vassar College and a singer of some repute, having studied at one time for the operatic stage. She was about fifty-five years old.

Dr. Hartley-Hellyer, who was born in England has had an eventful career, having travelled extensively, practised medicine, became a land agent and run for political office.

HUB MAN FEARS SISTERS HELD BY TURKS

Anthony Alexander, of No. 390 Northampton street, is distracted from worrying about the fate of his two sisters and one brother, who are [illegible] either to have been captured or slain by the Turkish soldiers during their recent seizure of Smyrna.

The girls, Helen and Dania, are young and pretty and were students in the American College in the ill fated city. His brother is a member of the Greek army and no word has been heard from him.

As soon as word of the destruction of Smyrna reached America, Anthony sent a cablegram to his relatives in Greece, but as yet he has received no answer.

The girls are well known in the [illegible] circles of Boston having spent [illegible] in this country with their [illegible]. During their stay they were active in the Greek activities in Greater Boston. They returned to [illegible] their education in the American College.

The brother has spent nearly all [illegible] in the Greek army and [illegible] active part in the fighting in [illegible].

CONNOR FLAYS VOTERS WHO K. O.'D HIM

Archibald Paul Arabi Connor of Springfield today filed his return of election expenses for the Republican and Democratic nominations for State Senator, both of which he lost.

Connor reports that one of his opponents took note of the initials of his first three names and then began to spread the word that "Connor is an A. P. A."

"I am not an A. P. A.," said Connor, "any more than a man whose initials are K. K. K., necessarily belongs to the Ku Klux Klan.

"According to the limits of that man's intelligence, Lodge must belong to a lodge. Another well known candidate must be subject to Fits.

"The most evil smelling animal is protected by law and allowed to roam freely through the Commonwealth. However, my best wishes go to my late opponent and I have provided a good-will offering for him to the extent of twenty three cents—this fund to provide for the postage on ten lectures in an extension course, plus the additional postage for the diploma, if earned.

"Thereafter it is hoped the course will provide him with an honest trade, profession or some visible means of livelihood, which he apparently now has not."

Connor said that in Longmeadow and East Longmeadow most of the people [illegible] they are voting for the King of England but some time in the future perhaps a dozen of them will progress enough to vote for Abraham Lincoln or Thomas Jefferson.

Connor's campaign cost him about $30. He enumerated all items. He said he paid the Standard Oil Company $1.35 for five gallons of gasoline and a store ten cents for tacks. "The only important promise he made was to put Springfield on the map."

MAY USE PRISONERS AS COALHEAVERS

Short-term prisoners at Deer Island may be used as coalheavers unloading coal consigned to the city. The plan is now under consideration by Mayor Curley and prison officials. Federal permission was received today for Boston to sell coal, through the navy yard. Several coal dealers conferred with the Mayor today and it was voted that the public be urged to buy coal of any kind for this Winter.

WATER SHAKEUP COMING ON FIN. COM.'S REPORT

Public Works Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke and Assistant Superintedent Patrick G. Finnerty of the income branch of the water division were in conference with Mayor Curley today in regard to the long expected shake-up that is due in that department.

Those in the know at City Hall are predicting that Finnerty will succeed Robert W. Wilson, the present superintendent, whose department was severely criticised by the Finance Commission in a report filed with the Mayor today.

Finnerty was removed from the city service during the Peters administration and reinstated when Mayor Curley took office. Peters did away with the position but the council revived it again.

BONE-DRY RULE HELD UP AT ALL PORTS

Washington, Oct. 13.—The Federal restraining order issued in New York to prevent prohibition agents from interfering with liquor aboard vessels of the International Mercantile Marine Company will have the effect of holding up enforcement of Attorney General Daugherty's almost bone dry ruling at all American ports, it was declared today by Judge J. J. Britt, chief counsel to Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

Although the temporary injunction issued by Federal Judge Hand applies only to the jurisdiction of New York, restraining the customs officers at the port of New York and the prohibition officers of that territory from warring against ships which bring liquor within the three mile limit, Judge Britt said that the order would apply constructively to the entire country.

Other officials pointed out that the issuance of the restraining order in New York established a precedent which would lead other steamship companies to file similar proceedings.

Prior to the Cabinet meeting today Judge Britt conferred with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to acquaint him with the [illegible] which have [illegible] New York officials were restrained from enforcing the [illegible] ruling.

Frederick P. Lord, counsel for the Cunard and Anchor (Line) Steamship Companies, conferred today with Solicitor General James M. Beck in an effort to reach an agreement with the Department of Justice for expediting to the United States Supreme Court a case to test the validity of Attorney General Daugherty's interpretation of the Volstead Act in so far as it affects enforcement at sea.

The Cunard Line has filed an application in New York for a restraining order like that granted the International Mercantile Marine Company, but the request has not been acted upon.

British Ships File Protest on Dry Edict

London, Oct. 13 (By International News Service).—British shipping interests today filed formal protest with the British Board of Trade against the American prohibition ruling forbidding the ships to carry liquor from entering the three mile zone off the American coast.

The British government, however, will await the outcome of court action in the United States before undertaking diplomatic intervention. New perplexities are arising in connection with the American ruling. Many of the passengers embarking upon the American liner George Washington to return to the United States carried their own drinks with them.

Large purchases of various kinds of whiskies and wines were made by Americans who said that the prohibition ruling would not be allowed to interfere with their thirst.

British officials are curious to see how the American custom authorities will deal with Americans who carry their own.

England pays fifty millions, first instalment—of interest—on her debt to America. She will pay, not unless sentimentality says "Never mind."

England owes the money to citizens of this country. If she does not pay, they must pay in more taxes. England owes billions to her citizens. If any debt must be cancelled, why not cancel the debt that England owes to Englishmen instead of the debt she owes to Americans? "Englishmen owning consols would not like that," you say. Quite so, but Americans will not like five billions of extra taxation. Cancellation should begin at home.

The government's half billion bond offer is oversubscribed by one billion. There is some money left. When France had to pay one billion—five thousand million francs—to Bismarck, the French people subscribed the amount fourteen times over.

Germany is now paying back with pretty heavy interest. If France proves too militaristic and unreasonable, she, in years to come, will pay back, with usury, all she gets now from Germany, and more. And so it goes. Victory or defeat, war does not pay.

"Policeman Seely, pressing through a crowd enjoying the fight, found Leonard Salitz, aged sixteen, on his back, Louis Cl[illegible], fourteen, standing waiting for Salitz to rise." He did not rise and never will in this life. He was dead.

The State of New York, in which this happened, legalizes prize fights, thugs are made popular heroes, criminals are permitted to exploit the public with exhibitions, and boys are taught that fighting is noble.

$23,900 BILL IN STILLMAN CASE FOUGHT

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—Supreme Court Justice Morschauser today took under advisement the form of a judgment in the Stillman divorce case submitted by counsel for Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, the victor.

The order as presented followed the decision of Referee Daniel J. Gleason in affirming the legitimacy of Mrs. Stillman's youngest child, Guy, and denying James A. Stillman, wealthy banker, a divorce.

Justice Morschauser also reserved decision on the matter of fees for Referee Gleason and for John E. Mack, guardian ad litem of Baby Guy.

Mr. Gleason submitted a bill for $23,900, stating he had devoted 148 days to hearing and consideration of the case. It had been stipulated, he said, that he was to receive $150 a day. Mr. Mack did not submit a bill, leaving it for the court to fix his compensation.

Mr. Gleason's bill was criticized by Outerbridge Horsey, of counsel for Mr. Stillman, who declared it covered an unreasonable period of time and that it was "exorbitant in amount." Actual trial, he declared, consumed only thirty days. He contended thirty days more for consideration should have been ample.

Justice Morschauser denied an application of Mr. Brennan for additional allowances to Mrs. Stillman as counsel fees, declaring that the $47,500 already allowed her for her lawyers was "extraordinary."

"Too Much in Love" Wife's Reason for Leaving Husband

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—"You and I both knew we were too much in love when we were married."

Dr. Warburton said his wife was still in the East.

MRS. GIBERSON MURDER TRIAL CAUSES CRUSH

Toms River, N. J., Oct. 13.—A thousand men and women, many of the latter equipped with basket lunches and knitting, fought for entry to the courtroom today as the prosecution began its third day in the trial of Mrs. Ivy Giberson for the murder of her husband, William F. Giberson.

Interest in the case was stimulated by the statement of the prosecution that the State might conclude its testimony today, and the possibility of the defendant being called to the stand to relate her story of the midnight robbery in which she claims her husband was killed by burglars while she, trussed and gagged, was powerless.

ARMOUR BALKS, REFUSES FACTS ON WHEAT

Chicago, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—J. Ogden Armour again today refused to give the Federal Trade Commission, which is investigating trading in wheat futures, the figures showing the extent of his grain trading in 1920, 1921 and the early months of 1922.

Mr. Armour on the stand Wednesday had refused to give the details of his grain transactions and was excused until today.

Victor Murdock, vice-chairman, and other members of the commission tried in vain to shake the decision of the witness. Finally Mr. Murdock excused Mr. Armour and said the commission would decide later what it might do in the situation.

Commissioner John F. Nugent as well as Mr. Murdock took a hand at questioning Mr. Armour.

"Are you alone the one man unwilling to give the commission the figures?" Mr. Nugent asked.

"I must decline to answer," Mr. Armour said.

"Of all the witnesses you are the only man who has refused to answer," Mr. Nugent [illegible]. "Shall we report that to the Senate?"

"I don't believe I have anything to do with that," the witness answered.

ALL ON BOARD BURNED LINER SAVED AT SEA

San Francisco, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—The radio, man's bridle on space, and that hardly less potent thing, the fellowship of those who go down to the sea in ships, stand responsible today for the safety of 317 persons—the ship's company of the steamer City of Honolulu, which burned yesterday.

All on board the lost liner were saved at sea. They were transferred today to the army transport Thomas and will be landed here.

The readiness with which mariners of half a dozen craft, from pleasure yacht to dreadnaughts of the Pacific fleet, ofered themselves for the rescue of their distressed fellow traviers afloat was but an echo of a story first told so long ago that men have forgotten the time of the telling, but the tale of the radio's part belongs to a more modern generation. They mingled, this old thing and this new one, to save life.

SHIPS RUSH TO AID.

Early yesterday, while she was 670 miles off San Pedro, Cal., fire broke out in the second class cabins of the steamer, one-time pride of the North German Lloyd Line and more recently leader of the Los Angeles Steamship Company's new Honolulu service.

Unaccountably the flames gained such headway on the fighting crew that, two hours later, it was necessary to abandon ship. But before that time came, the radio had cried far and wide the "S O S" that means disaster, distress and human extremity on the high seas.

Two ships, the Enterprise, of the Matson Line and the Thomas, an army transport, westbound, from Hawaii, caught the signal and turned toward the position the operator had given.

SERIES OF MISHAPS.

Los Angeles caught the signals and navy vessels stood by to race with death to the scene of the fire. San Francisco caught the signals, waited awhile until the radio operator on a distant ship had turned that vessel, too, toward the scene.

It was the West Faralon, M. M. Walk, master, that swept down the sea lanes to the City of Honolulu and effected the rescue.

The fire broke out between 5 and 6 o'clock in the morning, the passengers were put overside at 8, the captain left the steamer a little after 10, the West Faralon arrived about 2 30 in the afternoon.

By a quarter to four the last boatload of castaways had been hauled aboard the West Faralon, and that ship, her every corner crowded with cargo of human salvage, lay to a mile from the fire-swept vessel and all hands watched her burn.

The rescued signed and sent a message expressing their appreciation of the fight made by Captain R. H. Lester of the City of Honolulu against the fire and his care for their comfort and safety afterward and of the unselfish service of Captain Walk's rescue.

RED CROSS OF N. E. TO AID REFUGEES

Two messages for Red Cross workers in New England were brought back from the second annual national convention of the American Red Cross, held this week in Washington, by Arthur G. Rotch, manager of the New England Division.

First: All Red Cross chapters and branches in New England Division must prepare imediately for a big campaign to provide clothing for the refugees who have fled and are still fleeing into Europe, from Asia Minor, to escape the Turks.

Second—Red Cross workers may feel assured that the present peacetime activities of the American Red Cross wil be continued; that the central committee is convinced that the charter places no such restrictions as would eliminate any of the current activities, including service to disabled veterans, public health nursing, instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, first aid and Junior Red Cross.

JEWS URGED TO RAISE FUND FOR PALESTINE

"The Jew who refuses to respond wholeheartedly to the movement to establish a home for homeless Israel in Palestine will be branded forever as a man without people and without pride or conscience."

Thus declared Harris L. Selig, campaign director of the Palestine Foundation fund, addressing several hundred men and women at the Elysium Club on the coming campaign for $250,000.

"The call that comes to Boston Jewry should be regarded by all of us as a privilege and a sacrament," he added.

The celebration will close with a banquet in the Boston City Club.

PAWTUCKET PASTOR IN U. S. SENATE RACE

Providence, Oct. 13.—Rev. James I. Mr. Bartholomew will run on a prohibition enforcement platform and Mr Sullivan on a liberal labor platform.

CAPTAIN MASON DIES AT THE AGE OF 85

Captain John L. Mason, of No. 23 Lindsey street, Dorchester, one of the best known sea captains in Boston died at his home today, following a stroke of apoplexy. He went to sea seventy years ago at the age of fifteen. He gave up active sea duty in 1887 and was made secretary of the Boston Marine Society. In 1912 he was made president of the society.

HOLD TWO MEN ON MOONSHINE CHARGE

Manuel Grace of Taunton was held in $500 bail today for the Federal Grand Jury on the charge of manufacturing 65 gallons of moonshine. Frank Milewsky of Norton was held in similar bail. Federal agents visited Milewsky's home in Norton, where, they claim, they saw Grace operating three 25-gallon stills. Besides the liquor and the stills the agents seized 500 gallons of mash.

Mother Wants to Give Away Her Boy

SACRIFICE IS DUE TO POVERTY

Cambridge Woman, Her Husband Crippled, Faces Eviction From Her Home

Mother love is a powerful thing.

But it is not strong enough—not always—to cope with poverty.

As a result, Robert Fisher, an eight-year-old boy, is to be given away by his mother.

Mrs. Eleanor Fisher, who lives at No. 4 Lanson place, Cambridge, is the mother of three small children. Her husband was a capable wage-earner up until last Spring. Then he was injured in a railway accident. When he emerged from the hospital, his legs had been amputated.

WILLING TO WORK.

Mrs. Fisher is brave and willing to work. But the burden of caring for a house and earning money enough to support three children and a crippled husband is too great. The family is practically without food or clothes. The rent has not been paid, and the landlord has ordered them to move out.

The little mother can see only one solution. She must give away one of her children.

The oldest of the three is a boy of eight. He will be able to stand separation from his mother better than his two little sisters.

HOPE FOR FUTURE.

And so Mrs. Fisher wants someone to take him and give him a home. She realizes that he faces a life of poverty and destitution with her, and it is her hope that his foster parents can give him a comfortable home and an education.

"If someone takes the oldest boy, I feel that I will be able to take care of the other two children somehow," she said. "They are three years and [illegible] months of age, respectively.

"If any readers of the American can give any discarded clothing or any spare food that would help tide us over for a few days, I would be the most grateful [illegible] in Greater Boston."

LOSES SUIT AGAINST FITCHBURG COUNCIL

By a decision rendered by the full bench of the Supreme Court, the petition of Charles F. Dooling, against the City Council of Fitchburg, to compel the City Council to submit to a vote at the next city elections, orders passed by the City Council connected with the building of a schoolhouse at Fitchburg, has been dismissed. The court holds that as Fitchburg is managed under the Plan B. city charters, all contracts must be made by the Mayor as executive officer of the city and that such orders are not within the jurisdiction of the Cíy Council and they cannot interfere with a Legislative act.

WHEELER-NICHOLSON WILL BE RETIRED

Major Malcolm Wheeler-Nicholson, who appeared some time ago before a board of inquiry at the army base, South Boston, with his counsel William J. Flaherty, will be retired from the army, according to information from Washington.

The major has been a storm centre for some time, having published a pamphlet, entitled "Either Abolish the Army or Reform It," as well as an open letter to President Harding, in which he accused the U. S. army of Prussianism.

WANT A BOY OF 8? HERE IS YOUR CHANCE!

"My boy is big for his age and will be a great help to anyone who adopts him," said Mrs. Fisher today. "He is well-behaved and quiet. He will only face poverty with us. I want him to be comfortable and get an education."

SCHOOL WAR OVER WELLS' HISTORY

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 13.—A controversy over the adoption of H. G. Wells' Outline of History as text book at the Kansas State Normal School at Emporia, has been referred by Governor H. J. Allen to the State Board of Administration for final settlement.

"I have received a number of letters protesting the adoption of the book," said Governor Allen today. "Some oppose Mr. Wells' treatise on world history, claiming it is irreligious; another that it is improper from the moral standpoint. None of the opposition has been based on the fact that Wells is British."

DESERTION PROVED ON EX-COP

Found Guilty on Charge of Non-Support Brought by His Wife

Samuel A. S. Sweetland, former policeman, was found guilty today of three charges before Judge Dubuque and a jury in Superior Criminal Court. The charges were non-support, abandonment and desertion of his wife, Mrs. Ellen F. Sweetland.

It was alleged that following the desertion of his wife, Sweetland went to Philadelphia, secured a divorce and re-married.

Mrs. Sweetland later brought suit for alienation of affections against Mrs. Myra Pearson of Milton.

The second marriage was not recognized by the court here.

Sweetland was much in the limelight in 1910, when a trial board ordered his dismissal from the force because of the arrest of Miss Sally E. Beck, a social worker, on a charge of intoxication. The sentence was later commuted, but in 1912 he was dropped on a charge of taking $26 from a prisoner.

At the time of the alienation suit the Sweetlands had been separated for some years. Prior to the suit Sweetland and Mrs. Pearson were arrested on Mrs. Sweetland's complaint, in a Boston suburb.

KILLS SELF BECAUSE OF BUDDY'S DEATH

North Adams, Oct. 13.—Despondent because of the death of Fred Bissaillion, his buddy in the 301st Ambulance Corps, during the war, Anthony T. Atwood committed suicide today at his home by shooting himself in the head with an army rifle. Bissaillion, gassed during the war, died from the effects a few days ago. Since then Atwood had been very melancholy.

PHONE MANAGER DROPS DEAD ON LINKS

Stockbridge, Mass., Oct. 13.—Harold R. Rupley, forty years of age, of Albany, N. Y., head of the Albany district of the New York Telephone Company, dropped dead on the Stockbridge golf links. He had played 18 holes in the morning and was on his 11th in the afternoon. His wife was with him.

FAMOUS MODISTE BROKE

Lady Duff Gordon Files Petition in Bankruptcy After Losing $30,000 Year Job

London, Oct. 13.—"I have nothing to live on whatever. My entire income is gone and I have been fired."

This is the swan song of Lady Duff Gordon internationally famous dress designer, who has filed a petition in bankruptcy.

"I have been an absolute fool. I admit it. It is my fault."

Thus the titled modiste declared herself, stating that her bankruptcy is the result of a scheme to enlarge the scope of the business on the advice of Otto Shuloff, director of a New York drapery firm. Under the plan she received $3[illegible] yearly and a large share of the profits, as dress designer.

The trouble started in 1921 when she was transferred to Paris where the slumping exchange value of the franc cut her salary in half.

She signed a new contract at her old salary but was summarily dismissed a fortnight ago and sued for monies she owed the company.

At one time "Lucile," which she started in a single workroom in London, did an annual turnover of more than a million dollars and had branches in New York, Chicago and Paris.

RICH WOMAN ADOPTS PRISON BORN GIRL

New York, Oct. 13.—Born in a prison, little Mildred O'Dell will have a chance to forget the gray walls which she spent her first few years. She has been adopted by a woman who promised her mother, Mrs. Pearl O'Dell, that the child would be brought up with every advantage that wealth can give. The mother was sentenced to twenty years in Auburn prison for complicity in the murder of a man who was alleged to have wronged her before her marriage. The child was born while the mother was serving her sentence.

JUDGE TO PASS ON "OH BABY" SHOW AT LYNN

The "Oh Baby!" show girls at the Waldorf Theatre on Summer street, Lynn, are willing to appear before a judge to prove that their play should be approved.

Their knees had been appearing, with a lay in the chorus of the "Oh Baby" show at the Waldorf Theatre on Summer street, Lynn.

J. Frank Chase, secretary of those who "Watch and Ward," saw the show and decided that it was not quite the thing. So he swore out a warrant for the arrest of Abe B. Marcus of Boston, manager of the show, on a charge of conducting an immoral show.

Marcus is to appear before Judge Reeve today to explain matters. He insists that the show was perfectly proper, and declares he cannot see just why there should be a ban on bare knees, considering flappers and everything.

"The girls are willing to wear their costumes into court so that the judge can see for himself," he said. "There's nothing wrong with those costumes and if the judge could see them he'd say so, too.

FAMILY BUDGET TOTALS $155.30

Meat, Dairy and Fuel Prices Increase; Rents Unchanged and Sundries Drop

The high cost of living went higher last month, according to the figures issued today by the Commission on the Necessaries of Life.

In August, it took $155.30 to buy the food, clothing, rent, fuel and the sundry items that could be bought for $100 in 1913. Last month, that cost increased to $155.40. In July, 1920, at the peak of high prices, the cost of living was 102.6 per cent. higher than the 1913 figures.

ESTIMATED BUDGET.

In the first column of the following statement by the Commission, the relative amount of food and the other items to the total family budget is stated.

Item	Budget	Aug	Sept.
Food	43.1	136.3	136.3
Clothing	13.2	174.9	177.6
Shelter .	17.7	162	163
Fuel, etc.	5.6	172.9	177
Sundries	20.4	172	169.7
Combined	100	155.3	155.4

"Food prices as a whole remained unchanged. Meats and dairy products increased, but fish, sugar, flour, potatoes, onions, canned goods and other groceries showed a reduction.

RENTS UNCHANGED.

"The shelter index also remained unchanged. Some landlords increased rents, but the effect of new buildings was felt and tenants on their own accord moved in increasing numbers from high priced apartments.

"Fuel prices in September increased.

"Both men's and women's clothing prices showed an upward trend.

LADY HAMILTON IS STILL IN SECLUSION

Rockport, Oct. 13.—Lady Cathleen Fitzgerald Hamilton, mysteriously missing after leaving her hotel at Providence without giving a forwarding address, has failed to appear at the home of Mrs. Betsy Edmunds here, although scheduled to arrive for the fishermen's races.

Lady Hamilton, who is the widow of a British army officer, has cast an air of mystery about her [illegible] in this country. She is here ostensibly to raise funds for maimed British war heroes. She disappeared from Gloucester one week ago and later appeared in Providence, after the body of a woman answering her description had been found floating in Gloucester harbor.

SIX ARE FORCED TO BANKRUPTCY COURT

Three voluntary and three creditors' petitions in bankruptcy were filed in the federal court today. Voluntary petitions are John Wesley Cunningham, Lynn, clerk, liabilities, $2,427, no assets; John A. Av[illegible]rinos, Lowell, shoe repairman doing business as the Brockton Shoe Store, liabilities, $654, assets, $500. Robert D. Glawson, Medford, mason, liabilities, $1,560, no assets. Creditors' petitions against Isaac Deitch, Chelsea, claims, $1,818; the Deitch Woolen Co., Boston, claims, $755 and against Benny Rothenburg, Lowell, claims, $523.

Referee in Bankruptcy Arthur Black announced that the first meeting of creditors in bankruptcy cases which have been held on Fridays has been changed to Tuesday.

ENJOY BIG FILM AND FEAST

Auto Ride Through Kindness of C. P. Rockwell, Inc., a Feature

"Ain't we going to see any nore!" asked little nine-year-old Agnes, an orphan from one of the Boston homes upon leaving the Orpheum Theatre, where she saw "Queenie," that wonderful dog in the "Forget-Me-Not" film, pull at girls' tresses and make herself and scores of her little companions laugh.

More than one thousand orphans have been, during the past four days, guests of the Boston American, with the co-operation of the manager of the Orpheum Theatre.

Brent Curtis

All of the boys and girls comprising the groups which have so far seen the film have had a grand time. Many of them have never seen anything like this entertainment in theatres and will long remember it.

OCKWELL PROVIDES AUTOS.

Much of the enjoyment came through the liberality of C. P. Rockwell, Inc., who placed a large number of automobiles at the service of the institutions daily. These rides were much enjoyed and furnished no small part of the happiness which all felt.

CELEBRATE ON COMMON

LEGION GIRLS.
Representing West End Post at the Boston Common celebration were Mary Marto, Eleanor Prezioso and Lillian Bosso.

Archie Lloyd sang so many songs at the luncheon at the Elks Home where the children were feasted by this organization with the greatest attention that one hour and a half of entertainment did not stop the children from asking for more.

Then the Squirrel brand of salted peanuts given daily was a great treat. Handkerchiefs were again in evidence on the last day, dainty ones they were—all from Raymond, together with Spearhead American flags from Jacobs, Whitcomb Company and Masten & Wells while the Bushway Ice Cream Company sent five gallons of cream which was much appreciated.

The Ambassador branch of Ginter gave over a thousand sandwiches for the four days. Frances E. Boyd Company of Everett also furnished five gallons of ice cream and wanted the orphans to have enough.

The Murray Company sent candy, the Turner Centre System three cases of milk, Ward Baking Company rolls.

The P. K. Chewing Sweets with the compliments of William Rider Jr., were taken home as souvenirs of the occasion with other trinkets after the Elks luncheon.

200 ORPHANS ENTERTAINED

There were two hundred orphans present from Home of the Angel Guardian with Brother Cleophas, assistant superior in charge, with the help of Brothers [illegible] Canute, Josephat, Medric, Wilston, Telesphore, Ostian and Julian.

Those from the Italian Home were in charge of Katherine Castlina, Helsa Girone, Teresa Castlina and Vincenza Schiavoni.

From St. Francis Home, Mrs. Henry Kamp represented Sister Superior Romulda.

Master Brent Curtis, the popular boy soloist of Trinity Church, sang "Love Will Find a Way" in the Orpheum Theatre for the benefit of the orphans.

Home Complexion Peeler Works Wonders

Marvelous Mercolized Wax

To keep the face, neck, arms and hands truly beautiful and youthful in appearance, the treatment which seems most sensible is one which will actually remove the skin itself immediately it begins to age, fade, coarsen or discolor. The only treatment which will do this, aside from a painful, expensive surgical operation, is the application of ordinary Mercolized Wax, which is as harmless as it is effective.

The wax is put on at night just as you apply cold cream, and washed off in the morning. It peels off the dead and half dead surface skin in almost invisible flaky particles, a little each day, no discomfort being experienced. With the disappearance of the old cuticle, the newer, healthier skin underneath gradually appears, richly beautiful with the flush of youth. The Mercolized Wax (put out by Dearborn Supply Co., Chicago), which you can get at any drug store in original one-ounce package, is indeed a veritable wonder worker.

YOUTH IS SHOT BY HIS COUSIN AT PLAY

Fifteen-year-old Gelsomino Mirra of No. 55 Lubec street, East Boston, is at the City Hospital with a bullet wound in his right shoulder, as a result of being shot by his cousin, George Cavinic, sixteen years old of No. 55 Porter street, East Boston.

The shooting took place in the woods, near Wellesley College, Wellesley, where the boys, their parents and an uncle had gone to pick mushrooms.

During the absence of the men the boys removed a revolver from a bag and were inspecting it when the shooting occurred. The [illegible] told his father that he thought he had unloaded the revolver when he aimed it at his cousin in play.

Syrup Pepsin Loved By Hosts of Babies

Half a teaspoonful will make a fretful youngster happy and playful

THE mother has her choice of many remedies for her baby's minor ills, but she should be careful which remedy she selects lest she do the child harm. What might be safe for herself may do injury to an infant. You will find that if the little one cries and doesn't want to play that its bowels are constipated. First look carefully to the diet and give the child one-half teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You will then see results in a few hours. You will not have to force it on babies or children; they actually ask for it, it is so pleasant-tasting and free from griping.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. The ingredients are stated on the package. It is a mild, gentle vegetable laxative that everyone finds effective and pleasant. It is better for you and yours than purgatives, coal-tar drugs, or salt waters and powders, which may concentrate the blood and dry up the skin; or mercurial calomel, which may salivate and loosen the teeth.

Use a safe laxative like Syrup Pepsin, and especially for the children, for invalids, growing girls, nursing mothers, elderly people, and persons recently operated upon who need bowel action with the least strain. Mrs. Lillian Brenington of Woodruff, S. C., always gives her children Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs. A. E. Blondin of Muskegon, Mich., will not have any other laxative in her home. Your druggist will supply you, and it only costs a cent a dose. Try it in constipation, colic, biliousness, flatulency, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

THOUSANDS PAY HOMAGE TO COLUMBUS

A plea for unrestricted immigration to America and denunciation of the literacy tests for immigrants featured the speeches of Ex-Congressman W. Bourke Cockran and Mayor James M. Curley at the Columbus Pan-American celebration at Parkman Bandstand, Boston Common.

Fully fifteen thousand persons assembled in the Common to witness the principal event of the greatest Columbus Day celebration held in [illegible].

"I have never believed in the autocratic principle of literacy tests for our immigrants," Ex-Congressman Cockran declared.

URGE BARS LIFTED.

"I have always preferred the calloused hand to the glib tongue. With the memory of Christopher Columbus in our hearts with a remembrance of that Columbus exemplified, we should permit easy access to our shores lest we shut out another Columbus or stem the progressive march of the sons and daughters of the peasantry of Europe."

Mayor James M. Curley, who introduced the chief speaker, urged that our doors be not closed to foreign peoples.

"We must not restrict our country to certain elements," he said. "What we do want is a broader understanding and a great co-operation among the different races. To fulfill our destiny, we need most of all the faith of God so finely exemplified by the greatest of Christian discoverers, Christopher Columbus."

THOUSANDS HEAR BY RADIO.

Both the speeches of Mayor Curley and Bourke Cockran as well as every spoken word in the picturesque celebration which centered at the bandstand were not only carried across the Common by huge magnavox megaphones, but were sent broadcast through the air by radiophone.

The national groups paraded to the Common from Park square, were reviewed by Christopher Columbus in the person of Joseph A. F. O'Neil of Dorchester, Faithful Navigator of Bishop Cheverus Assembly, fourth degree, Knights of Columbus, who occupied the seat of honor, and closed the festival by passing in review before Mayor Curley at the sunset parade.

REGULARS AT COLORS.

Two companies of the 13th regiment of regular infantry, with their regimental band, closed the ceremonies with evening colors and review in the ball grounds. A squad of artillery men from the 101st Field Artillery fired a sunset salute.

The spirit of the day was typified by the recitation of Joaquin Miller's poem "Sail On," by Mr. O'Neil and his welcome to the various national representatives. The countries of Central and South America were accorded the places of honor.

Throughout the afternoon the 13th Infantry band played stirring airs. The entire assemblage, standing far around on the green sward and hillsides of the Common, joined in the singing of "Massachusetts" and "Dear Old Boston."

Mayor Curley reviewed the department at City Hall, while Lieutenant Governor Fuller and State dignitaries reviewed them at the State House. In all there were 1406 men and officers in line.

Harvard Scientists Declared 123 Years Behind the Times

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 13.—Harvard University is 123 years behind the times, according to Professor T. T. See, director of the Naval Observatory at Mare Island.

"William Herschel first estimated that the milky way projected two million light years from the earth in 1799, and now Harvard scientists endeavor to tell the world that they are the first to establish the bounds of the universe," See declared.

The discoveries of Herschel were buried in some of his documents and he learned of them only in 1909, he added.

BUSINESS AND LOVE MIXED BY WIDOW

Oneida, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Mrs. Estelle T. Quintard, comely widow of sixty years, has a good eye for business.

It seems that the widow was lonely and had thoughts of marriage. From a matrimonial agency she is said to have secured the names of two prospects, George Fox of Pittsfield, Mass., and Arnold Robertson of Fillmore, Utah. Correspondence followed.

One day George was called here by the widow for inspection. He passed muster, according to the woman, and after a fortnight of theatres and movies the widow let it be known that she was about to be wed. George left town and Robertson arrived.

GREEKS ARREST 'CRAZY GLASS' GENERAL

Athens, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—Treated in the hospital for hallucinations a few years ago, according to the newspapers General Hadjanestis, who was commander-in-chief of the Greek army in Asia Minor at the time of the Turkish onslaught, was arrested and later sent to the hospital with another nervous collapse.

"The Glass General" is the ironical title given him on every hand. The title is derived from the story that his legs are made of glass.

His arrest is in line with the present policy of the government to fix the responsibility for the military disaster. Responding to a popular demand the revolutionary committee is proceeding with a vigorous investigation.

All the military men arrested will be tried before military tribunals.

Henry Morgenthau, former American ambassador to Turkey, in an address before the American Bankers' Association in New York on October [illegible], said:

"Greece was defeated, not because the Greek army was weak, but because King Constantine took control of the Government and replaced a very able general by one whom, I am [illegible] informed, though I have not the absolute [illegible], was an inmate of a lunatic asylum for two and one half years."

CROP PER CENT. IN N. E. TAKES BIG DROP

An uneven apple crop in New England has resulted in a total varying little from last year and the year before, Federal crop statisticians reported from their New England headquarters at Wakefield. Unfavorable conditions have considerably reduced the stock suitable for barrel use.

The condition of the crop on October 1 was given as [illegible] per cent. for New England as a whole as compared with 67.1 for the entire country. The total production for New England is forecast as 1,184,000 barrels as against 1,106,000 in 1921 and 1,2[illegible],000 in 1920.

In Maine the crop is about half of that of last year. It is slightly larger than last year in New Hampshire, Vermont and Rhode Island, and considerably larger in Connecticut, while in Massachusetts it is nearly three times as large.

Massachusetts cranberry production is forecast as 250,000 barrels as compared with 189,000 in 1921.

The prospect for potatoes in New England declined from a forecast of 34,[illegible],000 bushels on September 1 to 31,1[illegible],000 on October 1. This compares with 44,191,000 last year and a 1917-'21 average of 37,192,000. Maine promises 21,4[illegible],000 bushels as against 3[illegible],000 last year and 25,1[illegible],000 the five-year average. Aroostook county, Maine, reports little rot, but elsewhere in New England rot is reported from slight to very heavy. The crop condition for New England is given as [illegible] per cent. on October 1, as against [illegible]3 per cent. for the whole country.

A Talk To Mothers— Not Frivolous, But Thoughtful Mothers.

Each winter season brings coughs, colds, catarrh, pneumonia, "flu", and tuberculosis. Loving mothers dread the onslaught of these diseases.

Thoughtful mothers often provide against the danger of colds and coughs. Such mothers spend less money and have fewer hours of anxiety and sleepless vigil watching at the bedside of a loved one. Some mothers, inexperienced, do not know how to provide in advance for the colds and coughs that are bound to appear.

Here is a simple inexpensive way - practiced by over 3[illegible] mothers during the past twelve years, as a great volume of testimony proves. Not later than the first cold or rainy spell they make up a full pint of home made cough and cold medicine, using 2½ ozs of the pure Essence Mentho-Laxene, mixed with home made sugar syrup or honey. Costs less than $1.00.

Mentho-Laxene is so pure, contains no chloroform, opium or narcotic drugs, that it is given to infants without harm. Children and adults like its delicious flavor and its marvelous quick action in stopping colds and coughs before the dangerous complications set in. There is nothing sold so pure, so prompt, so inexpensive.

Resolve to be a "Thoughtful Mother." Get Essence Mentho-Laxene today and drive the cold and cough away. Best ever sold for cough and cold. Send 5 cents for sample. The Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, Ohio

WALSH DENIED WARRANT FOR ENWRIGHT

Judge Burke of the Municipal Court today denied the application of John Jackson Walsh, former candidate for the Democratic nomination for Senator, for a warrant for the arrest of Frederick W. Enwright, Boston newspaper publisher, on the charge of criminal libel.

In discharging the defendant Judge Burke made the following statement:

"Every candidate for public office [illegible] and fitness in issue, and a candidate who invites an attack [illegible] direction should hardly complain if his opponents accept the challenge.

"Counsel for the complainant argues that decent men will be driven from politics. The voter is entitled to know the character of persons seeking their votes, and it is for them to say how far a proven past offense will be condoned."

WINTHROP AUTOISTS ROBBED OF COATS

PHONE GIRL FIGHTS TO STAY IN THE UNION

Claiming an illegal attempt to oust her from the Telephone Operators' Union, affiliated with the National Federation of Electrical Workers, Miss May E. Matthews, Boston operator, has filed a bill in equity in Suffolk County Superior Court asking for an injunction against those who are working against her.

May E. Matthews

Mary E. June.

She asks that these three respondents be enjoined from revoking her license in Local No. 1A of Boston. She maintains that she was not given a fair trial and that a removal, under present conditions, is illegal. Miss Matthews is represented by the law firm of Stewart & Chase.

DRISCOLL MISSING FROM CAMBRIDGE

The Boston American has been asked to aid in the search for James Driscoll, twenty-five, of No. 539 Austin street, Cambridge, who has been missing from home a week.

James Driscoll.

Driscoll, who lived with his brother, Patrick Driscoll, left the house at one o'clock on October 6, possibly in quest of work as he had been out of employment for some time. He has not been seen since. He is believed to have had about $70 in cash, a gold watch and a ring in his possession when he left the house.

It is the first time in the five years he has lived with his brother that he has remained away from his home over night, and for that reason foul play is feared. The matter has been reported to the police.

Driscoll is five feet nine inches tall, weighs about 145 pounds, black hair, dark eyes and has a scar under his chin. When last seen he was dressed in a blue suit with pencil stripe, brown hat and low brown shoes.

ARTISTS FISHER, FLAGG, TARGET FOR PLOT

New York, Oct. 13.—A manicurist's plot to get $100,000 in the time-worn badger game against artists was revealed by Jack Flanagan and William Fisher, illustrators, and Mrs. Wallace Henkle, model. James Montgomery Flagg, Harrison Fisher and other prominent artists were the targets in the plot, according to Mrs. Henkle, who said:

Harrison Fisher

"The manicurist, through me, met several prominent artists and finally confessed to me that she was working a badger game and offered me a third of the spoils if I would come in on the game. I warned the artists immediately."

William Fisher, speaking of the manicurist, said:

"She had an engagement to pose for me last week. She undressed and started walking about the studio. I told her not to disrobe until actual work began on the canvas.

James Montgomery Flagg.

"Came a knocking on the door. The girl became hysterical and screamed. The caller proved a friend and the girl stopped her queer actions. I was summoned to the police station and was accused of attacking the girl. She whispered to me that she would drop the charge for $5,000 and I refused. Incidentally I was not held."

Mr. Flanagan said:

"This same manicurist tried to get $500 from me by badger tactics. These conspirators should be exposed. My artist friends have a wealth of material which we will turn over to the district attorney."

FRANCE TO FIGHT MORATORIUM

(By the Associated Press.)

Paris, Oct. 13.—The French government has instructed Louis Barthou, its representative on the allied reparations commission, to oppose in the commission the latest proposition made by Sir John Bradbury of England that an immediate moratorium for a period of five years be granted Germany on all cash payments, it was semi-officially announced today.

This decision was reached at a meeting at the French foreign office at which Finance Minister de Lasteyrie, Minister of Liberated Regions Reibel, M. Barthou, Augene Mauclere, head of the allied guarantees commission, and M. Seydoux, financial adviser of the foreign office, were present.

ILL, CONGRESSMAN FLEES HOSPITAL

Washington, Oct. 13—Representative Theodore Burton, Republican, of Ohio, bolted from the threshold of a hospital operating room to keep speaking engagements in his home State.

Representative Burton went to the Union Protestant Infirmary at Baltimore to have Dr. John Finney, famous specialist, who was called into consultation during Mrs. Harding's recent critical illness, take out a growth under his left eye.

He had stripped down to the waist and mounted the "banana wagon" to be wheeled into the operating room. Dr. John Finney, famous specialist, and the internes were all ready and the anaesthetist was waiting to give him ether. Told he must stay in the hospital ten days he rushed back to Washington.

DEFIES QUEEN OF JINXES AT GEORGES

"The Queen of Jinxes can't vamp me into believing Friday the thirteenth is bad luck."

So defying the Gods of Superstition, Joseph Donovan, manager of the new Boston establishment of the well-known Georges chain of men's clothing stores, chose today for the opening of the store at No. 46-47 Summer street.

Smiling genially, he surveyed the steady stream of customers.

BEAUTIFUL DECORATIONS.

They exclaimed with delight at the beautiful floral offerings, huge baskets of chrysanthemums tied with hugh bows of maline, to which cards were attached expressing good wishes from friends of Mr. Donovan and the Georges stores.

"Guess Friday the thirteenth works a way other than I thought it did," remarked a man going out after watching the busy first morning at the store.

"Georges is a Boston institution from start to finish," said Mr. Donovan.

All the sales force are Boston people. Mr. Georges, the founder of the firm, started his first store in 1875 where Filene's now stands. This store was moved later to the corner of Washington and Franklin streets.

HIS OTHER STORES.

He moved to other cities and established other stores. Now the chain is being extended to the New England cities, and the Boston store is one of the finest of the chain. It has one broad floor 150 feet deep with a forty-foot front, and a basement. A white tiled floor with red carpets and white high ceiling add to the well-lighted effect.

Mr. Donovan, the manager, whose home is in [illegible] in the clothing [illegible].

"Yes, it was my own idea to open on the thirteenth. It arouses interest anyway to see what happens. The Jinx seems to be on my side."

By FRANK DAMROSCH

(Director Institute of Musical Art of the City of New York)

New York, Oct. 13.—Jazz, which is music, although music of a debased kind, is going. Its day is nearly done, not only in the United States but wherever it has had a vogue.

Having its inception thousands of years ago among ancient peoples in the performance of religious rites, jazz has come, through adaptation, to be used in modern life as an excuse for persons who ought to know better, to move around a room locked in each other's arms with bodies held close together.

We can well afford to see it disappear and to speed its going.

FIGHTING AUTO PARTY FINED FOR DRINKS

A sedan containing five men who were so busy fighting that they paid no attention to where they were going crashed into a touring car driven by Mrs. David Hodon of Watertown, at West Newton today.

Both cars were smashed. Mrs. Hodon, her husband and the [illegible] men were badly shaken up. The five men were placed under arrest. They said they were James Wregan of Jamaica Plain, operator of the car; Alex McLane of Concord; [illegible] McIsaac of Boston; Thomas Lowe[illegible] of Boston and Frank Le Berde of Framingham.

At the police station the men resumed their battle and were subdued by the police. They were arraigned in the West Newton Court and all pleaded guilty to being drunk. Wregan was fined $100 for operating a car while intoxicated. McLane was fined $10 and the others $5 each.

COAL STEAMER LOSES 2 MEN IN HARD GALE

The British Ship Cardish Hall, carrying 6,000 tons of English coal, arrived in Boston today after a stormy voyage during which two men were drowned. The ship was a month overdue.

The ship left Immingham, England, bound for Boston, Sept. 16, and when four days out encountered a furious cyclonic storm which tossed the boat around like a chip on a mill pond. It was during this gale that No. 3 hatch cover became loose and when the crew went out to fix it a mountainous wave dashed over the vessel and swept two of the men overboard. Because of the rough sea it was impossible to launch a life boat to save them.

Who in your neighborhood makes the best creamiest LEMON PIE?

A message to retail grocers and housekeepers in Boston

SOMETIMES at the house of a friend you eat lemon pie so lusciously creamy, so deliciously "lemony" that you say to yourself, "If only I could make lemon pie like that!"

And it is a real art to make lemon pie successfully! Yet many women have, for years, been making just the lemon pie you dream of—and always with the same success.

And you can do it, too—with Good Luck for Lemon Pie. It gives you the ingredients that the best cooks use, mixed according to a recipe that never fails. All you have to do is to follow the simple directions on the Good Luck package. In a twinkling, you will have a perfect filling.

Perhaps you feel today that some other woman in your neighborhood makes a better Lemon Pie than you do. If so, please write us. We want to know who she is. Then after you have tried Good Luck write us again telling us how your pie compares with hers. We will be very grateful to you for this information.

With Good Luck your very first pie will be richly golden, creamy, yet firm enough to cut well, and with the tangy-tart flavor that makes lemon pie the most loved of all pies. Good Luck is so economical that you can afford to "treat" the family often. And don't forget to write us all about it—as we suggested above. Ask your grocer for Good Luck today. Good Luck Food Co., Inc., Rochester, N. Y.

TO THE RETAIL GROCER

Do you know that many grocers are losing real money on home-made Lemon Pie? Numbers of your customers will not make Lemon Pie because it is too much trouble. They are not buying Lemon Pie ingredients from you. Instead they are serving easier desserts for which you, perhaps, make no sales.

Sell them Good Luck for Lemon Pie. It brings them certain success for little work. That means real gratitude from your customers and extra profits for you. Your jobber has it in stock.

GOOD LUCK for LEMON PIE

YALE-IOWA GRID GAME WEEK-END FEATURE

PLENTY OF FOOTBALL ON SLATE FOR FANS

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Just a word of warning, folks. Don't be surprised at any surprises tomorrow afternoon. They're pretty apt to happen what with Yale engaging Iowa, Princeton meeting Colgate; Pittsburgh clashing with West Virginia; Vanderbilt playing Michigan, Washington and Jefferson battling Carnegie Tech, etc., and etc.

Off hand you might figger Yale, Princeton, Pittsburgh, Washington and Jefferson and Michigan as the likely winners of them five fracases. But don't be too gosh-all-fired sure. We personally calculate at least one and possibly all five of the [illegible] canines will emerge smilingly and with a [illegible] wag[gin]g.

If the Iowa eleven is all they claim [illegible] certainly will be [illegible] upon to show a much better brand of football than it has revealed to date. If Princeton is no stronger than the [illegible] game with Virginia indicated, the Colgate team, now coached by [illegible] Harlow of Penn State, is in a position to duplicate the stunts [illegible] Harlow's Colgate teams [illegible] on the Tigers. As for Pitts[illegible] West Virginia, its early season record would indicate Coach [illegible] Spears [illegible] for a winning [illegible] while Carnegie Tech and [illegible] have shown sufficient stuff [illegible] force the Presidents and the [illegible] to a merry pace.

racuse Brown Game o a Top-Notcher

When there's the Brown-Syracuse [illegible] Syracuse with a band of [illegible] and basketball a long and uninterrupted series of wins over the [illegible] undoubtedly will enter the [illegible] fray the odds-on team. There is real reason to anticipate Brown victory.

It's rather unusual to find an early season program offering so much that appears worth while as does the [illegible] program of tomorrow. All of the games already referred to are big time numbers, or so appear, [illegible] there are many other promising [illegible] on Saturday's card.

New Hampshire State may give [illegible] a taste of real opposition [illegible] the same sort [illegible] battle against Dartmouth as it [illegible] last year when it led the Green [illegible] 0 throughout the first half [illegible] fresh from its surprising [illegible] over Bowdoin, may offer a [illegible] or two to the [illegible] Columbia eleven. [illegible] may [illegible] 14 to 0 last [illegible] Bowdoin pitted against the Harvard [illegible] as a [illegible] to [illegible] the case may show a return to form that will cause the Crimson coaches to shoot the first string [illegible] into the fray.

Plenty of Games, Both Big and Small

"Can happen," as Ma Pettingill's Chinese cook would say.

And when it comes to games in[illegible] only the smaller colleges there are more promising contests [illegible] can shake a stick at. Right here in New England we have such [illegible] as Williams-Tufts, Vermont-Boston University, Holy Cross-[illegible], Maine-Norwich, and [illegible] by the last named making [illegible] start of the always interesting [illegible] of Maine championship series, with Bowdoin and the University of Maine are the remaining contestants.

It is unfortunate for Tufts and for [illegible] Casey, the new Tufts coach, [illegible] he is forced to send a much [illegible] team into the game at Williamstown. Percy Wendell, the [illegible] coach, appears to have developed a very worthwhile Williams team, one to be feared by the most able elevens, thus making tomorrow's battle the most important on the Tufts schedule for this season. But in losing "Van" French, his best triple threat halfback, Carl [illegible], first string quarterback, and Cook and Macchia, varsity ends, [illegible] Casey is sorely hit and Williams' chances immensely helped.

B. U. will do exceptionally well if [illegible] comes back from Burlington with whole skin, albeit Tom Keady's [illegible]ermont array with all its star athletes, has yet to make a really impressive showing.

The native ability is there, however, and sooner or later its bound [illegible] show, and it would be just B. U.'s [illegible]k to have it show tomorrow.

[illegible] much for things in prospect.

ttle Affair at Braves eld Was Worth While

But we must do a bit of retrospecting today for there was a little affair out at Braves Field yesterday witnessed by nearly 20,000 gridiron fans which is distinctly worth a note or two. We refer to the 27 to 0 victory scored by Boston College over a far from weak Fordham team.

It gave us our first glimpse of the 1922 B. C. varsity in action, and we wish to tell the well known world Frank Cavanaugh has a team that is a team. There are rough spots to smooth over to be sure, but no eleven has a sweeter set of backs than the Maroon's first combination, and among the ten or a dozen line[illegible]men who saw [illegible] there were [illegible] to [illegible] But [illegible] strong vanguard.

Cavanaugh Has a Peach of an Off-Tackle Play

And maybe they haven't a pip of an off-tackle play. Wow, but [illegible] looked good.

[illegible]

Of course other plays are made from the same formation just to baffle or surprise the opposition, but it is when it shoots off an opposing tackle position with Darling, Comerford or Ward carrying the ball, that it really comes into its own.

Play Was Responsible for Two Touchdowns

That play was responsible for two touchdowns. The first was made through Darling's 60 yard run, and the second coming when a series of such plays carried 47 yards [illegible] the score. A 30 yard forward pass carried [illegible] more yards by Tony Comerford and the recovery of a Fordham fumble within a few steps of Fordham's goal line, were the [illegible] factors to the other two touchdowns.

The employment of that play, the [illegible] interference given B. C. backs in running back enemy kicks and the sensational [illegible] work of Darling, Comerford and Ward were the bright spots in Boston's play.

The right side of the Maroon and Gold line performed fairly well on defence but there was a decided weakness [illegible] when [illegible] the offense was [illegible] drawn out of position [illegible] defensive [illegible] things rather badly at times.

Keahane and Beaver Made a Better Left Defense

The introduction of Keahane to [illegible] position and later when Keahane [illegible] Keahane and Beaver next to guard found the Maroon's left defense much better [illegible] or both of these [illegible] permanent.

[illegible] hampered by the [illegible] seasons ago but that [illegible] can be charged to [illegible] handicap.

Fordham proved no slouch of a team with Captain Myers and Woerner its brightest stars. The former is a [illegible] runner and several times reversed his field for long gains.

There were several notable flaws in the officiating. To our way of thinking B. C. [illegible] its final touchdown three times before it counted, for on the first two [illegible] the referee [illegible] the runner was [illegible] over the goal line. And there were one or two other things that [illegible] when it appeared [illegible] the [illegible] of those handling the game.

It was a tough game to handle. Both teams were on edge and over anxious and on one or two occasions [illegible] for a while. [illegible] we should congratulate the officials on conducting it as well as they did.

50,000 Fans to See Gridiron Classic at New Haven

New Haven, Ct., Oct. 13.—A crowd exceeding 50,000, breaking all early season attendance records at the Yale Bowl, is expected to view the intersectional football game tomorrow between Yale and Iowa State, coached respectively by the Jones brothers, Tad and Hoard. The family element has heightened interest in the game that is bringing together the 1921 champion of the Western Conference and one of the leading Eastern elevens last year.

Yale rules a slight favorite.

MAPLE LEAFS WIN IN NATIONAL SOCCER

By ART CURLY

The Maple Leaf soccer team of Quincy staged a great come-back and eliminated the Charlestown eleven from the National Challenge Cup Competition in the first round by a score of 4 goals to 1. The game was played on Fore River field and, although the score appears a little lop-sided, both aggregations played hard, clean soccer. The winners displayed more combination play in their forward rank.

It was the same old story with Charlestown, a fine defence but no forward line. In the second half they had several chances to score but lack of proper understanding and team work among the forwards prevented it.

An early goal scored by the Leafs in the first [illegible] minutes of the game seemed to take the heart out of the Charlestown boys for some little time and before the half was ended the count was 3-0. The first goal was scored by Bradford, who centered the ball right into the goal. Duffus got his hands on it but it twisted from his grasp into the goal. Ten minutes later Gunning eased the ball into the net from scrimmage following a corner kick by Lewis. Russell made the count three when he received a fine pass from Craig.

Carlson, the Saliva Pitcher, Walks the Plank

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 13.—Barney Dreyfuss has made up his mind that the Pirates can win the National League flag next year and so he has given carte blanche to Manager Bill McKechnie, the canny Scot of Wilkinsburg, Pa., a suburb of the Smoky City. Bill will try to unload Pitcher Carlson on some unsuspecting club; not that Carlson isn't a good pitcher, but because he's a spitter and can't get along without the use of the saliva pellet. Barney and Bill would like to get two seasoned pitchers and will angle for deals at the annual National League meeting in December and also through all the Winter

Pere Marquettes Win

Pere Marquette Council, K. of C., opened its football season with a victory over the Quincy Town Team eleven 13 to 7. The game was closely contested throughout and was featured by the line plunging of Higgins and O'Leary of the South Boston eleven.

MALONE AND KARR IN BATTLE AT TRIPLE A TONIGHT

WELTERS READY FOR SOUND OF GONG

By JACK CONWAY.

Jock Malone and Johnny Karr, two of our premier welterweights will engage in an elimination battle when they travel the ten-round distance at the Armory A. A.'s show at Mechanics' Building tonight. The winner will be in a position to demand bouts with Jack Britton and Johnny Wilson. The vanquished will have to give his attention to lesser lights.

It will not be necessary for Benny Osthues to introduce Malone and Karr after they parade into the ring. These stout-hearted sons of swat have already met twice. And on each occasion Karr's [illegible] were [illegible] across the wire in the lead. The first bout was a [illegible] affair but the popular award went to the [illegible]. There was no chance for an argument in the second mill, as [illegible] were decided by a referee's decision.

It was a mighty shock to the Malone temperament when the verdict was rendered against him. Jock has been battling welterweights and middleweights for these many years and has only lost one referee's decision besides the one granted by Karr.

Malone was so much upset at the result of the quarrel that he went out and bought for himself a splendid new raiment and grappled with a dozen new slang phrases.

Jock then cooled his wrath with some real beer which they sell to the boys "in the know" around Chicago. Feeling much relieved Jock [illegible] into the Chicago office of Walsh & Lewis. The [illegible] Webster of [illegible], otherwise known as Tommy Walsh, was in charge.

Malone Asked Another Chance With Karr

"Say, Tommy," chirped Malone, "get me this guy Karr again."

"Haven't you already had two shots at him?" [illegible] Walsh.

"I know that, but [illegible] me [illegible] the response.

"But what do you want to fight a guy for when he's already whipped you twice?" Walsh asked in his most diplomatic tone.

Malone's reply was not very [illegible] as the [illegible] newspaper.

Anyhow, Jock finally got Walsh to consent to go after Karr again. The match was [illegible] and will be staged [illegible] the [illegible] at Mechanics Building tonight.

Rival Boxers Each Confident of Victory.

Malone and Karr, both of whom have been in town [illegible] days, are confident [illegible] boys are in splendid [illegible] condition and [illegible] to offer if defeated.

It will be a quarrel between two master boxers who can also score with stinging punches.

Malone is the veteran, Karr the youngster.

The two previous bouts between this pair were crowded with all kinds of action. Tonight's melee should be every bit as interesting.

Boston and New England fans who have seen Malone beat [illegible] Joe Gans, Pat Walsh, [illegible], [illegible] Bogan, Pal Reed and Mickey Walker are naturally anxious to see him in action against the latest star of the welterweight division.

Frank Merna and Eddie Sawyer, former amateur rivals, will meet in the semi-final of eight rounds. [illegible] Lucas and Billy Murphy will battle eight frames, as will Henry Ford and Al Girard.

W	L

Another day, new opportunities, new figures to [illegible] for Jack Conway.

Jack Malone will surprise the wise ones and defeat Johnny Karr at the Armory Club's show tonight, says Jack. Karr has bested Malone twice, but he won't do it tonight. It will be a brilliant [illegible], but Jock will be out front when the final blow has been delivered.

As for the Downey [illegible] bout which takes place at the Arena Monday night, we're still pondering over the dope sheets.

BECKETT BEATS MORAN TO A PULP

By FORBES W. FAIRBAIRN.

London, Oct. 13.—Frank Moran was beaten to a pulp before 10,000 howling fight fans, one-third of whom were women, at Albert Hall, by Joe Beckett. The referee stopped the fight and awarded the decision to Beckett in the seventh round.

Moran's defeat was a foregone conclusion after the third round. A low blow in the last minute of the second round floored the Pittsburgher, who groaned in evident pain and claimed a foul. His claim was supported by half of the audience.

From where I sat at the ringside the blow appeared to be far below the belt. The referee, however, did not allow the claim of foul and only the gong saved Moran from a knockout.

In the third round Moran staged a wonderful rally and almost knocked out the Britisher, but his blows lacked a trifle of steam.

From then on Moran took terrible punishment. His face was battered until it looked like a piece of raw beefsteak. His eyes were closed and he was unable to see.

By virtue of the victory over the American, Beckett will meet Siki on November 23 in London. Moran goes into pugilistic oblivion.

Georges Carpentier, who was at the ringside, was given a terrific ovation when he announced that he is seeking a return match with Siki in London.

[illegible]CH WINNER IN HANDBALL TOURNEY

The handball tournament was one of the attractions at the [illegible] of the Charlesbank Gymnasium. It proved a success. More than twenty-five contested.

John Lynch won first prize in the singles when he defeated John Carey. Phil McCarthy was second and Frank O'Connor third.

The doubles were won by Phil McCarthy and Ray Smith, who defeated Frank O'Connor and George Cronin. The first game was won by O'Connor and Cronin, 21 to 18, while the next two games went to the winners, 21 to 14; 21 to 19.

Danvers Suffers 23d Consecutive Defeat

Salem defeated Danvers High at football. The score was 15 to 5. That's nothing out of the ordinary, however, for it was the twenty-third consecutive year that Salem High eleven has won from the Danvers High team on the gridiron. The Danvers High isn't a bit discouraged, however, and will play again next year and has hopes of winning.

Hope springs eternal in the human breast.

MISKE CLASHES WITH GIBBONS TONIGHT

Boston and New England fight fans will await with interest the result of the fifteen-round bout between Billy Miske and Tom Gibbons in New York tonight.

Billy Miske.

Both men are challengers of Jack Dempsey. As a result the bird that finishes in the also-ran class tonight will have to grab one of those brown derbies which were so popular with the Yanks during the World's Series.

Miske recently flattened brave Frederick Fulton in one round, which leads many of the boys who are supposed to have had their wisdom teeth to believe he will also wallop Gibbons.

St. Paul Tom has done plenty of bang-up fighting, but has the unfortunate habit of failing to come through when put to the big test.

Tom Gibbons.

You may recall that when Gibbons looked like the well known million dollars a year ago he whirled into New York for a bout with Harry Greb of Pittsburgh. Greb socked Gibbons hard and often. Harry was a couple of miles out front when the last wallop had been delivered.

Jack Dempsey hopes it will be a rip-tearing bout as he will get a shot at the winner if said winner shows any real class.

BALTIMOREANS WIN EASILY FROM SAINTS

St. Paul, Oct. 13.—The effective pitching of Jack Ogden enabled Baltimore to win an easy victory from St. Paul in the fifth game of the "Little World Series," 5 to 1.

The Saints reached Ogden for only two hits, but both came in the second inning and made possible the Saints' only tally. Ogden fanned eleven men.

WEYMOUTH DEFEATS BRAINTREE, 6 TO 0

In the presence of a large crowd, Weymouth High team defeated Braintree High team on French's Common, Braintree, 6 to 0. Weymouth scored in the first period, when Marrow, the husky fullback, skirted around left end for a sixty-yard run and touchdown. Weymouth marched down the field in the second period for a touchdown but the touchdown was not allowed by the officials who ruled that Keene, right tackle on the Weymouth eleven, had used his hands in a rough manner. The ball was brought back to the 20-yard line, [illegible] lost it on downs.

ARLINGTON WINS ITS FIRST LEAGUE MATCH

Arlington High won its first Mystic Valley Interscholastic League game. It defeated Woburn High, 13 to 0, in a thrilling contest before 5,000 excited followers.

Races at Lowell

TERRY MARTIN DRAWS WITH IRISH JOHN

New York, Oct. 13.—Terry Martin and Irish John Curtin fought a fierce ten-round draw in the star bout at the Polo Grounds. It was a battle that thrilled from start to finish. The bout between Andy Thomas and Joe Tiplitz, also, was declared a draw. In the other event Billy Ryckoff surprised the crowd by getting the decision over Danny Lee.

It was a smashing four-round affair which was called a draw. It put the crowd in a good humor, for it furnished plenty of thrills.

Kelly Levine, short of stature and weighing 120 pounds, fought Tommy Ross of Long Island City for six rounds. Ross had height, reach and five pounds on Kelly. It was a draw. It was a battle that kept the boys on their toes and in the last round they slugged away for dear life.

With this over, the first of the ten round star bouts was unfolded. Lee, weighing 123 pounds, and Ryckoff at 125 pounds started their scrap. It was a good bout all the way. Ryckoff was just a little too good for Lee.

Thomas and Tiplitz then meandered to the centre to start their ten round duel. Andy weighed 134½ and Joseph 137½ pounds. It was a splendid bout.

The Martin-Curtin affair closed the card. It was a corking battle all the way and the draw decision was well received.

BELMONT WINS FROM WATERTOWN RIVALS

The game was hard fought. Both sides displayed plenty of roughness during the [illegible] of the game and was warned several times by the officials.

Worcester, Oct. 13.—Johnny Shugrue of Waterbury defeated Sailor Byron of Worcester in ten rounds at the Casino. Byron won only one round, while Shugrue scored heavily throughout the fight. He scored one knockdown.

Kid Leliger of Worcester defeated Joe Fontaine of Worcester in eight rounds. Kid Poppen of Newton defeated Paddy Dolan of Worcester in six rounds. Dolan broke his hand in the middle of the fight. Johnny [illegible] of Worcester defeated Young [illegible] of the Columbus A. C. in six rounds.

WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER

See This Romance of Princess Mary Tudor Starring Marion Davies in Super Motion Pictures Which Are to Appear at the Park Theatre, October 23

World-Famous Story of the All-Conquering Power of Love Over the Heart of the Wilful and Beautiful Sister of the Autocratic King Henry VIII.

This famous story has been created into a superlative photoplay by Cosmopolitan Productions, direction of Robert C. Vignola. It is released as a Paramount picture.

By Charles Major.

JANE, of course did not know, so we all laughed as usual upon the slightest pretext, and Mary that fair [illegible] of contradictions and [illegible] stepped boldly up to Brandon with her [illegible] cheeks ready for the first lesson in the new [illegible].

She was a little frightened at his arm [illegible] to her [illegible] touch of man [illegible] and coy, though [illegible] being determined to learn the dance. She was an apt pupil and soon [illegible] and gracefully around the room with unfeigned delight, yielding to the new situation more easily as she became accustomed to it.

This dance was [illegible] exercise than La Gaillard and Mary could not talk much for lack of breath. Brandon kept the conversation going, though and [illegible] answered with glances [illegible] monosyllables, a very good vocabulary in its way, and a very good way, too, for that matter.

Once he said something to her in a low voice, which brought a flush to her cheeks and caused her to glance [illegible] up into his face. By the time her [illegible] came they were near us and I [illegible] her say "I am afraid I shall have to forgive you again if you [illegible] not careful. Let me see an exhibition of that modesty [illegible] boast." But a [illegible] and a flash of the eyes went with the words, and took all the sting out of them.

After a time the dancers stopped and Mary, with flushed face and sparkling eyes, sank into a chair, exclaiming "The new dance is delightful Jane. It is like flying, your partner helps you so. But what would the king say? And the queen? She would simply swoon with horror. It is delightful though." Then with more confusion in her manner than I had ever before seen: "That is, it is delightful if one chooses her partner."

This only made matters worse and gave Brandon an opportunity. "I [illegible] I hope," he added with a deferential bow.

"Oh yes, you may hope. I tell you frankly it was delightful with you. Now are you satisfied, my modest one? Jane, I see we have a forward body here, no telling what he will be at next," said Mary with evident impatience, rapidly swaying her fan. She spoke almost sharply, for Brandon's attitude was more that of an equal than she was accustomed to and her royal dignity, which was the artificial part of her, rebelled against it now and then [illegible] of her real inclinations. The habit of receiving only adulation and [illegible] on a pinnacle above everybody else was so strong from continued practice that it appeared to her as a duty to maintain that elevation. She had never before been [illegible] upon to exert herself in that direction and the situation was new. The service [illegible] [illegible] for her [illegible] whatever she thought of [illegible] she was in duty bound to [illegible] back at least part of the way to her dignity, however pleasant it was [illegible] down below in the [illegible] of informality.

In her heart the princess preferred [illegible] proper occasions, [illegible] [illegible] to dispense [illegible] as in fact, she had [illegible] in the evening. But Brandon's easy [illegible] perfectly respectful and [illegible] was very different from anything she had ever known. She enjoyed it but every now and then the sense of her importance and dignity—for you must remember she was the first princess of the [illegible] royal—would supersede even her love of enjoyment and the girl went down and the princess came up. Besides [illegible] Brandon was amusing himself at her expense, and that in fact this was a new sort of masculine worm. Really she sometimes doubted if it were a worm at all and did not know what to expect nor what she ought to [illegible].

She was far more girl than princess and would have preferred to remain merely girl and let events take [illegible] were going for [illegible] But there was the other part of her which was princess and which kept saying "Re[illegible] [illegible] who [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Jane's [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and if I have [illegible] make [illegible] to please you [illegible] of [illegible] more [illegible] seriously that his meaning could not be misunderstood. He did not care whether he pleased so capricious a person or not.

Mary made no reply, and it looked as if Brandon had the worst of it.

We sat a few minutes talking, Mary wearing an air of dignity. Cards were proposed and as the game progressed she gradually unbent again and became as affable and familiar as earlier in the evening. Brandon, however, was frozen. He was polite, dignified and deferential to the ladies but the spirit of the evening was gone since he had furnished it all with his free, offhand manner, full of life and brightness.

After a short time Mary, wanting good talking to thaw our frozen [illegible] and in her heart [illegible] preferring [illegible] to dignity, she said: "Oh, this is wearisome. Your game is far less entertaining than your [illegible]. Do [illegible] to make me laugh, Master Brandon."

"I fear your [illegible] said to Will Sommers," he replied. "If you wish to laugh I am not [illegible] both ways [illegible] [illegible]."

Mary's eyes [illegible] and she [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] though [illegible] in any way. Her [illegible] and she evidently had [illegible] kind words to say but [illegible] breath she had taken to [illegible] with and after one or two false starts [illegible] as many different [illegible] continued: "But [illegible] it. I ask you to forgive me and hereafter [illegible] all power [illegible] by yourselves [illegible] treat me as one of you—as a woman—a girl, I mean. Where is the virtue of royalty if it only means being put upon a pinnacle above all the real pleasures of life, like foolish old Stylites on his column? The queen is always preaching to me about the strict maintenance of my 'dignity royal,' as she calls it, and perhaps she is right [illegible] out [illegible] [illegible] but [illegible] [illegible] Oh [illegible] know how [illegible] to be a princess and [illegible] [illegible]."

[illegible] to Brandon: "You have taught me another good lesson [illegible] and [illegible] you are my friend if you will be so long as you are worthy. I do not mean that I know you [illegible] be worthy [illegible] Now we are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and she [illegible] gave [illegible] her hand which he [illegible] low [illegible] and kissed rather fervently [illegible].

INTERESTING STORY OF NEWLY WED LIFE

By Anne Lisle.

"OH DEAR MRS HARRISON WONT YOU PLEASE THINK OF SOME WAY TO HELP—"

"PRECISELY, I suppose it has [illegible] but [illegible] I'm afraid Park will lose all respect for me when I confess that I've [illegible]. I guess I ought to tell him how I've [illegible] [illegible] Yesterday Mr Hoadley was a [illegible] He wanted a purchaser. He wanted nothing so much as to sell Hoadley's hats to a responsible person. Today secure him the [illegible] responsible person [illegible] and he won't sell. I don't know what to make of it. [illegible] I can't think what excuse I'm going to make to [illegible] dear, Mrs Harrison, won't you please think of some way to help a puzzled old woman? I can't tell you how [illegible] to confess. I think you know how much it will mean to me to have those adorable boys [illegible] of me."

"They won't," I began.

But little Miss May interrupted my protest and [illegible] the next stage to a series of astonishing occurrences by putting her head suddenly down into shaking old hands and bursting into tears.

"Oh, my dear, don't!" I cried. "Surely you can't for one moment [illegible] that two fine young men [illegible] Lacy and Wayne Park [illegible] going to think [illegible] of you for being ambitious to [illegible] and having it fail through because of the whims of an [illegible] Max Hoadley."

"He isn't," sobbed my little partner.

This required me to stop and think up a new method of offering [illegible].

"You [illegible] forget—the changes that would occur in Mr Hoadley's [illegible]," I now ventured. "Yesterday he was bent on disposing of Hoadley's hats so he could devote his entire time to the Veda Corporation, which is evidently too much for the aristocratic and [illegible] Mr [illegible]. You promised how we'd [illegible] for the [illegible] He was [illegible] Today [illegible] Mr Lacy [illegible] there—Miss May."

"[illegible] so generous and [illegible] And that's why I can't bear to [illegible] of [illegible] of them. You should have seen [illegible] He could hardly control his emotion at the thought of what I was planning for Park—"

I could easily imagine that Ralph had troubles in controlling his emotion at the thought of the elegant and athletic Park engaged in [illegible] a rose to his head designer's latest creation in ladies' hats. But I said nothing. This was hardly the moment to appeal to Miss May's sense of humor. She gasped down a sob, looked up with a dreary and wretched little face from which all the joy was pinched out, and said:

"If you won't think it too absurd, I'll confess that I [illegible] that great baby of a Max Hoadley simply can't bear the thought of anyone else having anything to do with his adored hats. [illegible] I got the impression that he was fearfully jealous at the idea—"

"Of your interest in Park," I suggested slyly.

"Nonsense!" cried Miss May, but she blushed as she said it. Then all her dun and dreary misery flooded back, as she reached for the telephone and called Park's number.

Perhaps my mind worked unusually slowly, but it was not until a number of things had occurred that I got my idea.

After an interval of several minutes Miss May turned from the telephone and interrupted my seemingly intent work on the morning's mail.

"I WILL say no more except that should you know these people here Duchess—and you ever discovered that I could help them in any way—that you will call upon me to any extent."

She looked at me very searchingly and said [illegible]

"Bien."

Then we talked of other things and I tried to reingratiate myself. The war was going better—Foch would wish to push his advantage. Things must have some end in the near future—When was I going to England? All these [illegible] were discussed.

"When I am out of the hands of the doctors and have my new eye [illegible] I will return and then I want to go into Parliament."

The Duchess warmed up at once. That was just the thing for me [illegible] and to marry some nice girl of my own world of which there must be an embarrassment of choice with all the men killed in our country.

"I would want such an exceptional woman, Duchess."

"Do not look for the moon, my son, be thankful if she has been [illegible] brought up to have a decent conduct [illegible] the manners of the young girls now [illegible] try to be with the times—but these new fashions are disgusting."

"Do you think a woman ought to [illegible] perfectly innocent and ignorant of life to make the marriage happy?" I asked.

"The [illegible] of the minds of young girls one is never sure of, [illegible] so that they [illegible] have something to [illegible] as well [illegible] so [illegible] to be."

"[illegible] I want someone who would [illegible] and whom I could passionately love."

> What Has Gone Before
> Sir Nicholas Thormonde, a wealthy Englishman, wounded and blinded in one eye in action, starts writing his diary in Paris while the war is still on. He is sick of life. The war has robbed it of all that a young man can find of joy. He tries to amuse himself in the company of several women friends, who, he feels, seek his company for his money and not for the love he craves. He starts to write a book and hires a typist, Miss Sharp. He falls in love with her and serves notice on the "Fluffies." She refuses to give him her address.

she argued—"it is not found among young girls—these things come after one knows, and can discriminate—put them aside from your thoughts—they are temptations which one resists as one can and at all events makes no scandals about—Love! Mon Dieu! it is the king of the poem. It cannot happen in the world with satisfaction—It must be a pain always—do your duty to your race and your class. And try not to mix up sentiment with it."

"There is no hope of my finding someone I could really love, then?"

"I do not know—in your own country it may be—here it is the wife of someone else who holds the [illegible] and if it were not for [illegible] society would not exist."

"All that one must ask of the young is that they act with discretion so that they can reach the autumn of life without scandals against their names. If the Bon Dieu adds love—then they have been indeed fortunate."

"But Duchesse—with your great heart have you never loved—?"

Her eyes seemed to grow beautiful and young again—they diffused a fire—

"Loved—Nicholas! All women love once in their lives, happy for them if it has not bent their souls in its passage—happy if the Bon Dieu has let it merge into love for humanity." And soft tears dimmed the dark blue brilliancy.

I leaned forward and kissed her hand with deep devotion—then the ancient servitor came in and she was called to a word—but I left feeling that if there is really some barrier of family between Amthea and me—there would be no use in my appealing to the Duchesse—Sorrows she understands and war and suffering—and self sacrifice. Love she understands and passion and all that appertains thereto—but all these things go to the wall before the conception of the meaning of noblesse oblige with her—of which Adelaide de Mont Oreuil wedded the Duc de Courcy [illegible] in the eighties. The only thing left now was to telephone to Maurice—

He came in for a few minutes just before dinner—

He has questioned Alwood Chester of the American Red Cross who had told him that Miss Sharp had been Miss Sharp always while she worked for them, and that no one knew anything further about her.

Well—if her father is a convict and her mother—in a mad house and her sister consumptive—I still want her for herself—

Is that true—Could I face disease and insanity coming into my family—?

I don't know. All I know is that I do not believe whatever curse hangs over the rest it has touched her—she is the picture of health and balance and truth—[illegible] every action a noble—and I love her—I love her there!

Next day she came in at ten as usual. She brought all the chapters [illegible]— As her attitude towards me had been as cold as it was possible for an attitude to be

I cannot say that there was any added shade of contempt since her interview with Suzette—What has passed between them perhaps Burton will be able gradually to [illegible]

I controlled myself, and behaved with a [illegible] reserve. She had nothing to snub me for or to disdain [illegible]. She took the papers at two o'clock and I sighed as she left the room. I had watched her [illegible] for nearly two hours—her face was a mask—And she [illegible] indeed really have been concentrating upon the work in hand. Her hands are whitening considerably—I believe their redness had something to do with her little brother, perhaps she put very hot things on his chest—I have never seen such a white skin—it shows like mother of pearl against the cheap black frock—The [illegible] of the throat is like my favorite [illegible] Nymph with the shell—[illegible] the mouth is not unlike hers also. I wonder if she has damp—but I had better not think of those things—

I am now determined to ask her to marry me on the first occasion I can screw up my courage sufficiently. I have decided what I am going to say. I am going to be quite matter of fact. I shan't tell her that I love her even. I feel if I can secure her first I shall have a better chance afterwards. If she thought I loved her her nature is of that honest kind that she might think it was dishonorable to make so uneven a bargain with me but if [illegible] I want her for my secretary and to pay to me [illegible] perhaps [illegible] up in my feeling for her [illegible] which I would [illegible] far for her [illegible] and [illegible] nothing in return.

After lunch [illegible] have together [illegible] came in and [illegible] four o'clock.

After we had discussed the war news for a long time he began as usual about Violetta.

She was perfection—she had fulfilled all he had ever asked of a woman—but—or rather in consequence of this—she had begun to bore him while a new vixen with no heart and the brain of a rabbit now [illegible] strangely.

"And what are you going to do about it, my dear George?"

"Deceive her of course, Nicholas. It is a painful necessity that my kind heart forces me to perpetrate."

He was smoking contemplatively.

"You see, dear boy—one can't be brutal with the little darling, so that is the only course open to one. For their limited reasoning power does not enable them to grasp that it is not one's fault at all when one ceases to care—the trouble lies with their own weakening attraction. So one has to go on bluffing until they themselves weary or find out an alternative that one's affection has been transferred."

"Don't you think there are some to whom you could tell the truth?"

"I have not met any—if they do exist."

"If I were a woman it would insult me far more for a man to think I was so stupid that he could deceive me than if he said frankly he no longer cared."

"Probably—but then women don't reason in that way—you might prove by every law of logic that it was because they themselves had disillusioned you, and [illegible] control over the [illegible] of your emotion [illegible]"

"[illegible]" I argued [illegible]

George leaned back in his chair [illegible] which expresses as a rule rather kindly whimsicality, grew stern and his voice lowered.

"[illegible] has to pay one's shot every time. A man pays in money, or jewels, or disgrace, or in regret and remorse—and he can [illegible] before [illegible] to what extent that which he desires is worth the price which will be [illegible] it is a brainless idiot who [illegible] or who laments when he has to stump up. I [illegible] women are of supreme interest to me and their company—their sympathy and affection—bought or otherwise—are necessary to my existence. So I resignedly discharged my debt every time."

"How will you pay it then about Violetta, who you say is an angel, and harmless?"

"I shall have some disgusting moments of discomfort and remorse—and feel a moral Bluebeard. I shan't go scot free."

"And she? That won't help her."

"She will pay in tears for having been weak enough to love me; she will feel the consolation of martyrdom and soon forget me."

"And you don't think one incurs some kind of hoodoo in indulging in these things? I am thinking of Suzette. Her shadow, almost one would say, projected by fate, is what is causing me trouble now, not any deliberate action she is committing against me."

"Sylpho-Nathol for sanitary housekeeping"

"Herbert's brother is a Sanitary Engineer. He has been all over the world cleaning up cities and towns where unsanitary conditions are liable to cause disease. He stayed with us over last Sunday.

"'I wish every housekeeper in [illegible] used Sylpho-Nathol like that,' he said as he watched me sprinkle it into the garbage can, 'we'd have healthier homes.'

"'That's just one of the ways Sylpho-Nathol keeps us well,' I laughed.

"Then I told him how Sylpho-Nathol goes into the mop-water, how I use it around bathroom fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl, how Herbert sprinkles it around the cellar and in the attic—how it is poured regularly down the sink and refrigerator drains, to keep everything sweet and clean. He certainly did approve of both Sylpho-Nathol and my thorough methods."

Sylpho-Nathol is an effective, sanitary safeguard that has none of the objections most women have to ordinary disinfectants and deodorants. Sylpho-Nathol is pleasant to use. Its faint, friendly odor doesn't linger.

Sylpho-Nathol is safe to use. Though 4½ times stronger than carbolic acid, it's as safe to have in the house as a cake of scouring soap.

Sylpho-Nathol is easy to use. Just a teaspoonful in a quart of warm water makes a clean-smelling, pearly-gray solution that's ready for immediate use.

Sylpho-Nathol comes in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Most good grocers and druggists have it. If yours hasn't, he can get it easily. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

BOYS' BLOUSE AND KNICKERBOCKER TROUSERS

Pattern 3436 furnishes these two practical styles. It is cut in 5 sizes: 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 10-year size will require 1⅞ yard of 32-inch material for the blouse and 1⅛ yard for the knickerbockers.

Serge, cheviot, corduroy and khaki are good for the knickerbockers and cambric, madras, linen, chambray and flannel for the blouse.

ANSWERS TO RADIO FANS

L. W., Dorchester—1FF is station of Patrick J. Furlong, No. 6 Glenside avenue, Jamaica Plain. 1AAO is Reginald F. Chase, No. 1289 Massachusetts avenue, Arlington Heights. A potentiometer is of no use in a crystal set unless a [illegible] battery is used. It is impossible to say what would improve your set without knowing more about it.

J. E. S., Newport, R. I.—Glad to hear that you disagree with me on the matter of lighting vacuum tubes with dry cells. Of course anything that supplies six volts of steady current will light these tubes, but for continued service a storage battery is most economical. I understand, however, that tubes of very low current consumption for use with dry cells will be on the market soon.

E. M., Millville—High tension lines three-quarters of a mile away won't disturb your reception in the least. You might occasionally get Springfield on a crystal, but for satisfactory service you will need a detector tube. The capacity of the condenser depends on the variocoupler. The wider the steps on the secondary the larger the condenser required. Better put a variometer in the plate circuit and make the set regenerative.

Trifling Omission

A letter which had been brought by the postman was thinner than the bulky ones which a struggling young author usually received and he tore it open eagerly and read: "Your recent favor stating that you inclose manuscript of story with stamps for return if not suitable has been received. Your contribution is accepted." "At last!" exclaimed the young author joyfully. But his heart seemed to sink as his eyes caught the following: "P. S.—You neglected to enclose the manuscript."

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Jad Salts at first sign of irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat often too much rich food and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

BOSTON UNITED IN RECORD CELEBRATION OF COLUMBUS DAY

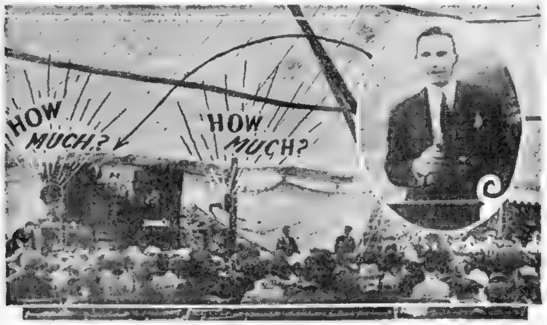
COLUMBUS, IMPERSONATED by Joseph A. F. O'Neil, Was, Naturally Enough the Most Interesting Costumed Figure in the Pageant on the Common!

FIFTEEN THOUSAND PERSONS WITNESS COLUMBUS Pan-American Festival on Common! Fully that many more heard the phonetical part of the program over the radio America was charmingly represented in the pageant by Miss Doris George, left, and Miss Alice Gumoselman. They took part in the "Growth of the Stars and Stripes," participated in by 100 persons in costume.



HOW MUCH?

TOM LAWSON SEES His Priceless Dreamwold Treasures Go Under the Hammer Via the Electric Amplifier! Photo shows Auctioneer Mackey "knocking" down an old portrait. Everything from bric-a-brac to bed linen was sold. Two thousand persons crowded the large auction tent, where the amplifier, as shown above, carried the "How much am I offered?" to all parts of the enclosure.

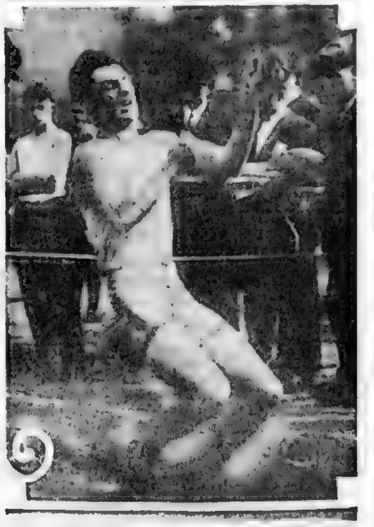
RABBI'S WIFE AND SISTER SERIOUSLY INJURED BY AUTO IN DORCHESTER! Mrs. Edith Seltzer, wife of Rabbi S. Seltzer, of No. 40½ Glenway street, Dorchester (shown in circle), with her sister, Miss Mollie Abrahamson of New York, was crossing Blue Hill avenue at Glenway street when, according to the police, they stepped in front of the auto operated by Abraham Zitter and were run down. Mrs. Seltzer received a fractured right wrist and body bruises. Miss Abrahamson suffered a concussion of the brain and multiple injuries. They were removed to the Elm Hill Hospital.

MISS LORRAINE "PINKY" LIGGETT MAKES THE grown-up riders gasp at the holiday horse show held on the beautiful Liggett estate at Chestnut Hill. Astride her big chestnut horse, the fiery youngster handled her charge like a veteran. Prize-winning animals from all sections of Greater Boston were entered. A fashionable gallery witnessed the events.

FIVE HUNDRED ATTEND brilliant wedding of Miss Eleanor M. Horne, above, to Captain Francis X. Phelan, held at the Mary of Angels' Church, Roxbury. Members of the Governor's staff and prominent Catholic clergy were present.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY LEGION MEMBERS, WITH THEIR WIVES AND Sweethearts, Leave On Special Train for New Orleans! Leading delegates of the party declared just before their departure that every effort would be made to induce the National Legion convention to go on record as opposed to national censorship of motion pictures as autocratic and in violation of the principles for which they fought overseas. Photo shows delegates and their guests ready to board the train.



BOSTON COLLEGE SHOWS ITS COLORS AT Charlesbank Meet! Bill Nolan of B. C. capturing one of the ribbons at the athletic carnival and rededication of Charlesbank Gym, attended by more than 5,000 fans. The best of the local talent showed its wares, and some of the liveliest dashes of the season were witnessed,

Standard Oil of New Jersey Drops Over 20 Points in Mixed New York Market

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Yes, we are in an era of mergers. The trend is toward bigness. The acquisition, announced this week, of the important Lackawanna Steel Company by Mr Schwab's ambitious and now gigantic Bethlehem Steel Company is the latest significant consolidation.

* * *

Verily, we have been having many mergers. And many more are in the wind at various points of the compass—Chicago may witness the merger of Armour & Company and Wilson & Company with J. Ogden Armour as chairman and Thomas E. Wilson as president; steel interests on the Pacific Coast are active mergerwise and, of course, the East is busy with merger talk.

* * *

When you take time to reflect for a little while, you realize that not many lines of industry have escaped the merger mania during recent times.

The chemical industry was corralled into one gigantic corporation, the Allied Dye & Chemical.

Bank mergers have been too numerous to enumerate and consolidations among responsible investment houses have also figured.

Newspaper mergers have occurred all over the country.

* * *

The movement to merge automobile companies is only in its infancy. This is probably destined to become one of the most important fields for mergers during the next half a dozen years.

The largest copper company in the country, Anaconda, took over the largest brass company, American Brass, and it would not be astonishing if the same forceful captain of industry who engineered this merger, John D. Ryan, were to bob up as a welder of various copper mining projects. Other combinations are not unlikely.

The hardware industry has not been passed over. The consolidation was recently announced of the Winchester Company and the Simmons Hardware Company.

The merger prospects in the railroad world are almost limitless. A real start, however, has hardly yet been made to bring about the consolidation of our 200 different railroads into the score or so of systems recommended by the regulatory authorities. The Van Sweringers of Cleveland have been buying up several roads and will doubtless knit them together. But the heavyweight capitalistic interests of "Wall Street" haven't yet gotten busy. This will come later.

Incidentally, the American Railway Express Company is simply a combination of the various express companies which existed before the war.

* * *

The American public at present are content to look on, apparently unconcerned. Those who are engineering gigantic combinations, however, must not interpret this outward indifference as license to inflict upon the public monopolistic practices, or they will find that, powerful though their combinations may be, the public are still more powerful.

NORSE FINANCING DONE IN AMERICA

A loan of $18,000,000 has been contracted by Norway with the National City Bank of New York. Of this sum, $5,000,000 will be employed in converting the previous Norwegian loan in America. The loan is for 30 years at 6 per cent. interest.

GIMBEL BROS. IS LISTED AND ADVANCES

Standard and Doheny oils furnished most of the pyrotechnics in the New York market, though specialties burst into new trading levels, while tires and motors, with some rails, led an afternoon spurt. Money renewed at 5, then dropped to 4½ per cent.

Standard Oil of New Jersey sold off over 20 points in a hectic turnover, while Standard Oil of California yielded 3½ at 124. Atlantic Refining added 20 at 1425.

Other new tops for 1922 with gains were made by Timken Roller Bearing, ½ at 33⅝; Continental Can, 12½ at 92½; American Express, 9¾ at 162; American Can, 4¼ at 71⅝, and Industrial Alcohol, 2¼ at 70⅝.

Liberty 4¼s Are All Sold Under Par

Selling of all Liberty bonds of the 4¼ per cent. series below par was the outstanding development in New York bond dealings. The losses in the Liberty group, however, were nominal, ranging from 2 to 8 points.

Foreign bonds were generally higher, Cuba Republic 4½s being pushed up 2¾, and Japanese first 4½s advancing ⅛.

Wall St. Gossip

WESTERN UNION'S operating income for first two-thirds of 1922 shows $2,827,201 increase over same period last year. This business is considered a significant straw showing trend of trade.

PRINCE & WHITELY—Don't be frightened out of good stocks by sharp reactions, which are to be expected from time to time.

A. A. HOUSMAN & CO.—The action of the Pan-American Petroleum issues impresses us and we feel that there are still possibilities in these stocks on the upside.

J. S. BACHE & CO.—We expect further erratic sessions, with big volume and cheap price movements both ways.

F. B. KEECH & CO.—We look for an irregular market and a nervous and awaited speculation.

NORFOLK & WESTERN is being acquired by many partly because of its stock dividend possibilities.

AMERICAN SUGAR is said to be in line for smart advance.

AMERICAN WRITING Paper Co. operations are around 90 per cent. of capacity.

MIDDLE STATES OIL and Southern Oil have joined hands with geological syndicate locating oil formations in Texas.

UTAH-IDAHO SUGAR CO. stockholders have approved reduction in par value of common from $10 to $6.

CORONA, Royal Dutch subsidiary, exported 1,286,000 barrels of oil from Mexico in September, 379,000 less than in August.

IDAHO POWER Company for year ended August 31 reports net income of $1,285,088, increase of $154,106 over previous twelve months.

AMERICAN TYPEFOUNDERS Company report sales in September as ahead of those in the same month of 1921.

PROTECTIVE COMMITTEE, with offices at No. 179 Broadway, has been formed to represent holders of Mays Food Products, Inc.

INGERSOLL-RAND stockholders will vote November 1 on a proposed increase in common stock to $30,000,000 from $15,000,000.

TREND IS HIGHER IN GRAIN MARKET

Prices worked higher in the Chicago pit. Wheat sold ⅛ to ¾ higher than Wednesday's close; corn, ⅝ to ⅞ up; oats, ⅛ higher. Wheat—December, 109¼ to 109⅝; May, 110⅞ to 111; July, 103½. Corn—December, 63⅝ to 64; May, 65½ to 66½; July, 65⅝ to 65⅞.

RECEIVER SEEKS TO ABANDON RAILROAD

W. H. Ogborn, receiver of Dayton, Toledo & Chicago Railway, has applied to Commerce Commission for authority to abandon his road. Service was stopped July 31, 1922, on order of court because of losses and unsafe condition.

COMMON STOCK

New England Minerals Company

COMMONWEALTH TRUST CO., BOSTON, TRANSFER AGENT

NO BANK LOANS, PREFERRED STOCK, OR FLOATING DEBT

No new securities can be issued except by vote of three-quarters of the Common Stockholders

Application will be made to list this stock on the Boston Stock Exchange.

THE COMPANY (organized in 1918) is in full operation and offers this stock for the purpose of increasing capacity to meet the growing demand for fine Ground Mica. It owns the water power on the Indian River at Canaan, N. H., and has there its central manufacturing plant. Four other plants for the production of raw material are located in the surrounding hills and include ownership of about 300 acres in fee. Finished product is used for automobile tires, insulation of electrical apparatus, surface of roofing-paper, wall paper, "Christmas Snow," and lubricant such as axle grease, etc.

LOCATION of Company's property is in the heart of the New Hampshire Mica District, the oldest developed Mica territory in Europe or America. The General Electric Company owns mines in this district which it has operated for years. One of the New England Minerals Company's sources of raw material in active operation immediately adjoins that of the General Electric Company. The latest United States Government Reports can be seen at our office describing in detail this district and the quality of its Mica. The property held in fee by this Company includes water power (150 H.P.), 3 fully equipped mills, complete machinery at two leased properties, 3 houses and 200 acres of mineral timber land. In addition it has perpetual rights to a storage basin, the lease of 500 acres of mineral land, and control by contract over the output of several small mines.

New capital will be used chiefly to develop further the Company's water power and electrify central plant in order to increase production to take care of business already booked.

BUSINESS FIELD is excellent, as no other grinding plant exists in New England or the middle Atlantic States. The demand for Mica has increased in a startling manner because it is the only perfect insulation—being unaffected by acid, fire or electric current. There are several customers in this territory who would be glad to contract for the Company's entire output. Some of the customers who have repeatedly ordered are:

F. W. Woolworth	Westinghouse Elec. & Mfg.	Barrett Mfg.
Fisk Rubber	American Toy	Nat'l Metal Molding
Simplex Electric	Geo. Borgfeldt	Hoover Suction Sweeper
American Wiremold	Wm. J. Murdock	Allen Higgins Wall Paper
Warren Soap Mfg.	Dennison Mfg.	P. Carey Mfg.

EARNINGS have all been turned back into the development of the property up to the present time. It was necessary to do a great deal of experimental work in order to make a clean separation at low cost per ton of the Mica from the surrounding Feldspar and Quartz. This has now been successfully accomplished. It is estimated that after developing fully the water power in Canaan, thereby increasing prodution, the Company will show net earnings applicable to the Common Stock of $52,275. This figure does not include earnings from production of Feldspar, diatomaceous earth, or plate mica.

PLATE MICA has already been obtained where the Company is now mining; in fact, two of the properties were extensively and successfully worked some years ago for nothing but Plate Mica. In sheet or plate form Mica sells according to size, bringing as high as $25 per pound. When you remember that copper brings only 19c per pound, runs only 1½% in the rock and that a copper mine costs much more to develop, you will see the speculative possibilities of this Company and the Common Stock offered you. Certain copper stocks might profitably be exchanged for this issue.

As the amount of stock for sale is limited, cash orders will be given the preference, but we will be glad to quote on exchange for other securities.

Boston Notes

HORNBLOWER & WEEKS—Something like resumption of general advance next week are the developments that seem indicated by speculative operations.

GREENFIELD TAP & Die has a substantial dividend showing for common, besides having earned its preferred dividend to date. Bills payable have been substantially reduced.

BOSTON PACKING group, Swift and subsidiaries, ought to sell higher on strength of showing of prosperity for industry made by T. E. Wilson, president of American Meat Packers. They have been steadily rising.

ATCHISON'S car traffic for freight is showing heavy increase each week.

MOON MOTORS, according to one Boston brokerage house, is likely to increase dividend on common when directors meet in December. Profits for year to date are said to run around $5 a share.

JOHN T. CONNOR & CO. stock around present prices will pay 8 per cent. a year starting next year.

NEVADA CONSOLIDATED by first of year is expected to be milling a tonnage equal to that handled when the concentrator at McGill was partly destroyed by fire.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER has profit and loss surplus of almost twice selling price of stock and, while much of it is represented by plants and inventory, inventory will be liquidated within six months when insiders expect shortage of newsprint.

Replies to Investors

Queries of interest to investors will be answered in this column or by mail. Address questions, with stamped and self-addressed envelope, to Frank H. Meloon, Financial Editor, Boston American, No. 80 Summer street, Boston, Mass.

To I. I., Dorchester.—American Locomotive is coming out of its leanest period in seven years. Common made a record Monday for all time. I see no reason why you should sell your common now to buy municipal bonds. The company's financial strength is impressive. Not a dollar of loans is outstanding and of $32,100,000 net quick assets over 80 per cent. or $24,500,000 are in cash and marketable securities. Net quick assets are sufficient to extinguish the $25,000,000 preferred and leave a balance of $57 a share for the $25,000,000 common.

Cuba Cane Sugar.

To A. M. B., Cohasset.—Recently there have been several favorable reports regarding operations and earnings of the Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation which have resulted in talk of preferred dividend. It is learned that prospects are the brightest since the big break in the sugar industry, but dividend talk can be put aside as premature.

The management, it is stated, will follow a conservative policy and put the corporation back in a strong financial condition before considering the resumption of payments.

PYTHIANS PAY TRIBUTE TO LEADER

JAPANESE PRESENT SHIPBUILDING BILL

Washington, Oct. 13.—Claims of Japanese ship builders against the shipping board for construction work during the war were heard here.

The Japanese built thirty ships for the United States at a flat rate of $175 per deadweight ton of shipping. They were to pay the freight on steel and the base cost at certain steel centres. The price is in dispute.

PELLETIER FETED BY BRIGHTON WOMEN

Joseph C. Pelletier, Democratic nominee for District Attorney of Suffolk County, was feted at a gala reception held in his honor by the Mothers' Club of Suffolk County at Warren Hall, Brighton.

In a short address Mr. Pelletier declared that he was deeply touched at the demonstration accorded him in the home district of his opponent for election.

BATHING SUIT PASTOR SUSPENDED BY SYNOD

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 13.—The conviction of Rev. Thomas J. Irwin of Lawton, on charges unbecoming a minister, and his indefinte suspension from the ministry, was upheld today by the judicial commission of the Presbyterian Synod of Oklahoma. He was found guilty of donning a bathing suit and marrying a couple similarly clad in a pool at a Summer resort; that he swore to a false affidavit to obtain an injunction to prevent his congregation interfering with his conduct of church affairs, and that he had disciplined members of the congregation without due process.

Let Us Have a Joint Debate

Duel on Issues of Campaign Between Cox and Fitzgerald Would Be of Great Value to Voters

Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald, the Democratic candidate for Governor, has challenged Governor Cox to a joint debate on the issues of the campaign. This joint debate Mr. Fitzgerald proposes shall take place not in a particular city or hall, but shall go on throughout the State; the candidates to arrange their schedule so that they shall speak in the same hall the same night in debate.

We earnestly hope Governor Cox will find his way clear to accept this challenge. It is a return to the good old days when joint debating produced so much interest in public affairs and produced so many able men and so much correct information which the voters needed to have.

The historic example is the Douglas-Lincoln debate, which was conducted throughout the State of Illinois by these two great champions of opposing parties.

Mr. Fitzgerald is quick on his feet and resourceful. Governor Cox does not need to fear the Mayor's ability, for he himself has his full share both of debating experience and talent. When he was in the Legislature and was floor leader of his party, he had occasion again and again to display his ability. Again at Faneuil Hall, when he replied to Attorney-General Allen, he showed the people of the State that when anyone entered into an encounter with him that man had blows to receive as well as blows to give.

If we could have joint debates we would rescue our public life from the almost disgustingly low quality of the public speaking. Outdoor rallies are largely the cause of the utterly irresponsible, careless and good-for-nothing public speeches, which are wasting the time and affronting the intelligence of the electorate today.

We hope that Governor Cox will accept Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald's challenge.

Gaston and the Tariff

Senatorial Candidate Should Press Home Injury New Schedule Is Going to Work to New England

We hope that Mr. Gaston, in the discussions of his campaign for Senator, will follow the lead of Senator Walsh and press home the injury which the present Republican tariff is going to work to the great mass of New England consumers.

A little study will show that the excessively high tariff rates, adopted in the Republican tariff bill just passed, do not serve to protect American labor, but serve to enable certain classes of manufacturers to exact extortionate prices from the American consumer.

These high rates do not help us to get foreign markets, because they keep foreign goods out of our market and give us nothing with which to exchange our goods.

It will take a long time for American manufacturers and alleged statesmen to understand the economic law which requires an exchange if there is to be commerce. By definition, trading is exchange. You cannot have a balance trade favorable to yourself permanently unless you are a debtor nation, and then it is a favorable balance only in name.

We have ceased to be a debtor nation and are today a great creditor nation—the greatest creditor nation in the world. Therefore, we shall have to have even more imports than exports if we are to have any foreign market for our goods. This is elementary, but not all of us can understand the point. We hope that Mr. Gaston will elucidate it as he readily can from his wide business experience.

Soviet, Arabs, Air

Three Things, Three Places

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

The Soviet government says that Russia will have recovered in industries and in prosperity by 1925, and will be on the high road to such prosperity as she never knew.

It sounds like a quick program, but it isn't impossible, especially as the government actually CONTROLS labor and land, and all the national wealth, and is concentrating on utilizing water power in place of human power and coal.

Turkey has given Europe one surprise. Other surprises are coming from the so-called ''down and out'' nations.

Representatives of the Arabs in Palestine are calling upon their fellows and upon all Christians to boycott the Jews, refuse to sell them land, or share in their government, etc. It is part of a well and viciously planned crusade. The whole thing will be straightened out in time, but there is trouble ahead there undoubtedly.

The world changes, and you hardly know it. In Detroit, an ''Air Institute'' will meet in a few days and discuss finance, law, insurance and transportation, as they affect navigation in THE AIR. And there will be established an aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

To old men it seems only yesterday when the railroads on solid earth were being discussed and mapped out in the same way.

Yes, Poles Kept Out Asia

And Much Honor They Deserve

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

A newspaper writer recently mentioned the fact that the French under Charles the Hammer, the Hungarians under Huninados, like the Greeks under Themistocles, and the Russians of all times, had kept Asia out of Europe. A number of Polish friends, including Mr. Koscinski of Detroit, ask ''Why don't you mention Poland's fights against Asia?''

To describe fully the services that Poland rendered especially under the great Sobieski, keeping back the Turks, would require a great deal of space.

That man Sobieski, one of the greatest of the Polish patriots, made a specialty of beating Turks and keeping them from European conquest. He beat them under Mahomet IV. Later, after he had been made King, Sobieski beat the Turks again and drove them out of Poland. Still later he marched to Vienna and freed the Austrians from the menace of the great Turkish army under Kara Mustafa.

No lack of fighting quality in the Poles against Turks or anybody el

Now Will You Be Good?

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

A NEW book on etiquette, written by Mrs. Price Post, a New York society leader, shows plainly the close relationship between manners and morals.

The Chinese sage says that, "when courtesies are practiced with all the heart, a moral elevation ensues."

Surely you are aware of the glow of goodness—or something very much like it—that comes over you when you go through a formal occasion without making a "break."

Or when you have eaten your way through all the courses of a ceremonial dinner without once having used the wrong spoon, fork or knife.

These are, of course, only trivial illustrations of the do's and don'ts of convention which indicate the nearness of morals and manners.

Not that you are essentially naughty if you are indifferent to the conventionalities of polite behavior.

Nevertheless, in a deep and very significant sense, these very conventions are the rules of the game of life and must be followed more or less closely, if we would play the game.

Mr. Duffy, in his illuminating preface, calls attention to the word etiquette as a gift of that politest of nations, the French.

It appears that Louis XIV. had a favorite Scotch gardener who was desperate because the courtiers trampled on his newly-seeded lawns. He put up "etiquettes"—tickets or warning signs—to indicate the permitted paths.

When even these were unheeded, the Scot complained to the King, who issued an edict commanding everyone at court to "keep within the etiquettes."

And so, gradually, the term came to mean both the proper conduct in court circles and the decent conventions in general relations.

This makes the picturesque suggestion that etiquette is really a continuous warning to Keep Off the Grass.

Now that you know the importance of etiquette, will you be good and will you keep off the grass and walk only in the way you should?

Tonsil Operations

Editor Boston American:

Dr. John N. Mackenzie, a distinguished physician and surgeon, a throat specialist at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., in an address before a medical association some time ago, declared that the operation on the tonsils was a "surgical insanity" and gave his reasons in detail, the chief point being that the tonsils are very important and useful organs and that there was no more occasion for removing an inflamed tonsil than an inflamed eye. In fact, I would sooner have an inflamed eye removed in my own case than to lose my tonsils. His address was printed in a leading medical journal under the title of "Massacre of the Tonsils" and was greatly admired by bedrock hygienic students. Strangely enough, the profession are now taking out sound tonsils as useless organs.

Little Use for England

Editor Boston American:

Unhyphenated American, just a few words to you. Right at the outset I wish to tell, you are the most hyphenated boy ever born. I am one who's ancestors came here with Marquis de Lafayette to help this country free itself from England, but I am very sorry that the blood of many of them were spilt for such as you, but again, thank the Lord, such of your species are few, so it was not shed in vain.

Personally, I never had much use for England, but the past will not deter me from giving honor to whom it is due and well deserved, so I say, great honor belongs to England for she has done great things in the Great War. Thousands and thousands of good sincere American boys have also given their lives and possibly saved yours. If some of those boys could talk today they might be able to tell the world that you always kept at a safe distance.

MON. LE MARQUIS.

Let Bygones Be Bygones

Editor Boston American:

The passing of the allegiance clause by the Irish Parliament, whereby each member will swear to be faithful to King George and his successors for ever, is surely an event which should cause universal rejoicing amongst peace-loving peoples throughout the world. I would suggest that this epoch-making event should be fittingly celebrated by all British, Canadian and Irish societies in Greater Boston by holding a united demonstration on Boston Common.

More Old Newspapers

Editor Boston American:

I have in my possession an old newspaper "The Massachusetts Centinel," dated Saturday, Oct. 11, 1788, and the price was three cents. Their motto: "Uninfluenced by party, we aim to be just." I have another "Columbian Centinel," Boston, Mass., Saturday, Dec. 6, 1809, and another "The New York Herald," March 18, 1865.

Editor Boston American:

I have a baby carriage which I will gladly give to one of the parties applying for same. Also some baby clothes and warm covers.

B. H.

Editor Boston American:

My husband left me and I have a little girl three years old and one six weeks old and I would like a carriage for my little one if you can get one for me.

F. R.

ED. NOTE—F. R., whose letter appears above will be given the baby carriage, and Mrs. E. F., whose request appeared yesterday, will get the baby clothes kindly offered by B. H.

Large Wheel Chair

Editor Boston American:

I have an exceptionally large white stroller lying idle in my woodshed. It is as large as an invalid wheel chair.

MRS. H. C.

Editor Boston American:

I am badly in need of a carriage. My husband is out of work. We have eight children, the oldest eleven years, the baby two months. I must take three youngest children with me when I go out. If I could get a strong, large carriage that would carry two of them I would be deeply gratified.

MRS. E. F. C.

ED. NOTE—The address of Mrs. H. C. has been sent to Mrs. E. F. C., in order that she may secure the large stroller for her children.

Sulky and High Chair

Editor Boston American:

I have a sulky, if it would be of any use to "Mother of Seven," with a little crippled boy of nine years; also a baby's high chair.

Americans Are Happy Folk

By Winifred Black

TOO jocund—that's what our college girls are.

Yes, that's the word—jocund. And it is used by Miss Varia Los-Chilova, Summer student at the University of California.

Miss Los-Chilova is a Russian girl, clever, young and unusually good looking.

Besides, she looks the part. You'd know her name would have to be Sonia or something like that the minute you glance at her.

Personality? She's made up of it!

Vitality? She fairly sparkles with it! She likes America very much, but oh! how can the American girl be so "jocund"?

"Your girls laugh so much," she says, "and they joke and tease each other, and call one another pet names, and they make fun of everybody—even, I fear, of Russia—and they flirt, dear me, how they do flirt! In Russia we are very different. We are serious there. Oh, yes, even the young girls.

"When a few of us are together in the afternoon, or in the evening, or even in the morning, we speak seriously of the realities of life, affairs of the day, books, scientific and psychological questions. Yes, with the young men, too, we speak of these things. And in Russia, if a young girl marries, she goes on with her profession and the young man goes on with his and we are serious about it. Here in America you laugh—all the time you laugh. I cannot understand it."

There, now, it's really true, the kind of thing you read about in the Russian books. Life, sombre, grim, bitter, cruel, never anything gay or light-hearted, or happy, or matter-of-course. And now they want us to be as gloomy and as pessimistic and as solemn as they are.

Never, Sonia—I mean Sofia—no, I mean Varia—never in the wide, wide world! Life is not bitter and cruel and sardonic, not in America.

Poor? Of course, we're poor—some of us—but what of that? We don't have to stay poor, if we are anxious enough to get out of poverty to pay the price.

Sickness? Yes, there is sickness, but it doesn't last long. There is fatigue, too, but that is soon over.

Sorrow? Ah, yes, sorrow we have, too; we are but human even if we are Americans, but sorrow is a natural part of life and should be borne naturally, not with bitter, sardonic hatred.

SEEN AND HEARD

THE Cambridge library was presented recently the only known copy of the Protestant Bible printed in Latin and called the "Biblia Sacra." It was printed by PETER QUENTEL of Cologne in 1527. The only known copy of the "Vinegar Bible" outside of the Lenox library is in the Old North Church (Christ Episcopal Church) on Salem street. It gets its name from some printer making the mistake of printing the parable of the vinegar for the parable of the vineyard. The Breeches Bible is over in Harvard library.

"Few of the hundreds of Bay State autoists who view the HANNAH DUSTIN statue every week at Haverhill know this tribute to the famous woman foiler of redskins was the first statue erected to honor one of the female sex in this country. LEONARD W. SMITH, curator of the Haverhill Historical Society, supplies visitors with many interesting facts and, with about forty descendants of HANNAH DUSTIN, recently enjoyed a sight-seeing trip to the Dustin homestead on Hilldale avenue.

The early darkness brings but little worry to the boys who are out to make the Pere Marquette K. C. football team, as they have adopted the whitewashed ball for use in their practice.

CITY SOLICITOR WILLIAM H. McMORROW isn't scared at hoodoo No. 13. He was appointed on the 13th of the month. Took office on the 13th, and now the postoffice authorities hand him his number for the metered mailing machine, No. 13. He considers himself lucky at that.

Plymouth is hardly thought of as a port, since the days of the Pilgrim Fathers, yet steamships from foreign ports are not uncommon sights in that historic town. Only the other day the steamship Rugbord put in there with a cargo of sisal or grass hemp from Progresso, Mex., for the local cordage company.

DR. ALBERT ABRAMS, the Jewish scientist, who is responsible for the theory of the electronic reactions of Abrams, enjoyed the distinction, when he graduated from Heidelburg University, in Germany, of being the youngest man to be graduated from that famous institution in one hundred years.

The champion "daredevil" automobile driver drove up Summer street during the rush yesterday holding the steering wheel with his knee while he lighted a cigarette.

There is a new wrinkle in church fairs. It is known as the "Push Cart Fair." Up at Kennebunk, Me., they had one of these new-fangled ideas put into operation, and every member of the Congregational Church got a pushcart or something that answered the purpose, filled it with salable articles, then went around, besieged residents and made them buy. They did buy to the extent of yielding $1,050.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON COPPER ESKIMOS

By Garrett P. Serviss

WILD men are becoming as scarce as wild animals. Civilization disposes of the one and gunpowder of the other. Among the latest instances of the reform of primitive peoples in accordance with the white man's ideas and institutions stand the "Copper Eskimos" of the Arctic region of North America. If we ever feel downhearted about our own kind of life it is encouraging to contrast it with the life led by the little remote, isolated group of neolithic men and women just now beginning to use rifles and sheet-iron stoves.

Only eight years ago say geographers, the Copper Eskimos were still in the stone age. Then the Canadian Arctic expedition arrived among them, and now, says Diamond Jenness, "there is hardly a bow in the country, almost every hunter possessing a high-powered rifle, and copper is no longer used except for rivets and the manufacture of spurious antiques."

Mark that! Spurious antiques! Made by a people who only yesterday were as primitive as the prehistoric cave-dwellers. And made for what? Why it can only be for sale to curious, credulous white men—the very race that has dragged them out of pagan darkness into Christian civilization.

The home of these people is along Coronation Gulf, which is a link in the complicated chain of waters that constitute the famous "Northwest Passage" around the North American continent. The south shore of Coronation Gulf is in Canada; the north shore is the south edge of Victoria Island.

In Winter the Gulf is frozen from shore to shore. In their old life, so recently upset, they lived from November to April in large villages on the ice of the Gulf, which is fifty to seventy-five miles wide; and from May to October they scattered over the opposite shores, hunting caribou and catching trout and salmon. In the Winter they caught seals. They were to be envied for their fur garments. They were too remote from the world to know anything about such occurrences as the wars and revolutions, famines and boom times, inventions and tradings, of the great nations outside the Arctic Circle.

They saw the steely northern stars glitter overhead; the north magnetic pole, unguessed by them, was only about 300 miles away, a little north of east; they had a long mid-Summer day and a long mid-Winter night; the mid-Winter's full moon flooded their icy home with cold light, while our mid-Winter noonday sun was under their southern horizon.

In their ignorance—one hardly likes to suggest innocence, considering with what zest, after being "civilized," they took up the making of fradulent copper antiques—they seem not to have been either bored or inspired by their remarkable surroundings.

It would appear that good judgment placed them where the white man found them, for they were situated exactly on the great line of annual migration of the caribou, while the Gulf abounded with seals. A philosophic soul like Henry Thoreau would have luxuriated in such a life, at least for one or two seasons. But it is said that the charm for the onlooker is already almost gone.

Doctors Claim Late Hours Ruin Health, but Night Hawks Never Get Sun Struck

Several of the big New York restaurants have decided to keep their cabarets running all night. This is a good idea and this will give the milkman a chance to see the revues.

As it is now, they close about three A. M., and the average man has no place to go between that hour and the time he goes to work.

Of course he could go home but you can't have any fun there.

A guy likes to take in a girl revue but not when his wife is the only one in the chorus.

A lot of reformers are getting so narrow-minded they want us to have all of our fun before midnight. Before long they'll appoint committees to come around and tuck us into bed.

These reformers seem to be in favor of short hours and long faces.

Columbus discovered the country, the farmers made it and these long hairs are going to ruin it.

These all night cabarets will be a great thing toward cleaning up the city. They will keep a lot of men off the streets.

After one or two o'clock in the morning, a man doesn't care where he goes. All he wants to do is to find some place that's open.

The majority of these night hawks just walk up and down Broadway trying door knobs. But some of them are so lazy they just stand in front of the joint for fifteen minutes and if nobody gets thrown out then they know the place is closed.

Doctors claim that late hours will ruin your health. Maybe so, but nobody ever heard of a night hawk suffering from sunstroke.

Typists and business men both patronize these all-night cafes. It's nothing to see an employer walking to work with his stenographer in the morning. The joints at least help you to get to business on time.

The cafes make you get out at seven-thirty and you're afraid to go home at this hour and you've got to sleep some place, so you go to the office.

While the police commissioners are busy closing several of our noisy cabarets they ought to take a little extra time and shut up a few of our loud reformers.
